PASTOR CALLED A WRETCH BY WOMAN; CHURCH IS SPLIT

Elder Adds "Liar" to the Epithets Heaped on the Preacher.

DEFINITION DISPUTED

Strodtman Heights Christian Church Divided Over Meaning of "Wretch."

JEALOUSY IS CHARGED

Mrs. Muirheid Alleges Minister Dislikes Her Prominence in Church.

WRETCH—1. A miserable person; one profoundly unhappy. 2. One sunk in vice or degradation; a base, despicable person; a vile knave.—Webster's International Dictionary.

Contention over the dictionary definition of the word "wretch" is one of the leading factors in dissensions which are now stirring the Strodtman Heights Christian Church, 2634 Genevieve avenue. Mrs. Benjamin Muirheid of 2638 Genevieve avenue known as the "mother of the church," referred to Pastor William A. Webster as "a poor wretch."

Mrs. Muirhead insists that her meaning was that embodied in the first section of the dictionary definition. Pastor Webster took offense at the characterization, taking the position that Mrs. Muirhead intended to refer to specification two, section two, of the dictionary definition.

As a result the church is in a turmoil, and Elder Lewis P. Leathers of 1155 Union avenue called the pastor "a liar" during a telephone conversation. Elder Leathers and Pastor Webster verify the report that the snort and ugly word was used by the elder during the conversation.

Scene in Church.

The Executive Committee of the St. Louis Christian Missionary Society was in session four hours at 2712 Pine street Tuesday night trying without success to straighten out the troubles of the little church.

The matter was taken up by the Executive Committee after a scene at the communion table in the Strodtman Heights church Sunday morning, July 10. On that occasion, Pastor Webster asked all who favored withholding the hand of fellowship from Mrs. Muirhead to raise their right hands.

Mrs. Muirhead dramatically stepped from her pew in the aisle and demanded that any person who knew of any action she had taken or anything she had said which was detrimental to the church, should speak out.

Claims Ballot Box Stuffed.

While this was going on, Pastor Webster announced there were 17 right hands raised. His count was disputed by one of the church board, and when a recount was taken the pastor announced there were 18 instead of 17. Either number was a majority.

But Mrs. Muirhead insists the "ballot box was stuffed," that the pastor had brought people in to vote who were not even members of the church, and that several of them were small children.

Mrs. Muirhead and Elder Leathers discussed the church troubles Wednesday, but Pastor Webster remained quiet, saying he might have something to say later, but not at this time.

Jealousy Is Charged.

"The entire trouble is due to Pastor Webster's jealousy of Brothers Leathers and myself," said Mrs. Muirheid to a Post-Dispatch reporter.

"I organized this church three years ago when I moved into this neighborhood, and practically all the business of the church, even the management of the erection of the building, has been in my charge.

"Pastor Webster was jealous when the men of the church consulted me. He was also jealous because my Sunday-school class surpassed his.

"One day, one of the members was talking to me about him and the question of whether we ought to call another pastor was broached. I said we ought to let Pastor Webster stay, and referred to him as a 'poor wretch,' meaning that he was having a hard e construed my remarks to mean thing against his character, which course I did not mean, but he refused to see it in any other light.

Committee Handling Cases.

"Some members of the church were in favor of ousting Pastor Webster and inducing Brother Leathers to take the pulpit, but Brother Leathers always refused.

"A few weeks ago Pastor Webster called him up and, reminding him the church paid pretty good money, told Leathers he wanted the place for the money there was in it. Brother Leathers said Pastor Webster was mistaken, and when the pastor repeated his remark Brother Leathers said, 'If you say that you are telling a lie!'

The Executive Committee heard both sides of the trouble at Tuesday night's meeting. Pastor Webster appeared with several of his friends, and Mrs. Muirheid had a friend or two with her. The Executive Committee is trying to decide whether the pastor shall be vindicated or asked to resign.

KANSAS TOWN PUTS BAN ON FIGHT EDITORIAL BY ROOSEVELT IN OUTLOOK

Ordinance Prohibits Sale of Magazine Although Article Opposes Ring Contests.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

HUTCHINSON, Kan., July 20.—Because of an article by Theodore Roosevelt in the Outlook, the latest issue of the magazine has been kept from sale in Hutchinson.

The magazine comes under the ban of a recent ordinance which prohibited the exhibition of prize fight pictures and the sale of newspapers or magazines printing such pictures or printing stories of prize fights.

Of course, it was never intended that the ordinance should place the Outlook in the same class as the Police Gazette, but under a strict interpretation of the ordinance any magazine which prints matter relating to prize fighting can be barred.

The latest issue of the Outlook contained comment by Col. Roosevelt on the Jeffries-Johnson fight, so it came under the provisions of the ordinance, even if the article did condemn prize fighting. No particular attention was paid to the matter until yesterday, when Mr. Oswald, a city commissioner, went to a book store to buy a copy of the Outlook.

"Can't sell it," the book dealer said. "It has an article on prize fighting by Theodore Roosevelt and I would be breaking the new ordinance."

OYSTER BAY, N. Y., July 20.—When Col. Roosevelt heard that the authorities of Hutchinson, Kan., had barred the Outlook because of its editorial regarding the Jeffries-Johnson prize fight he laughed most heartily.

TAXICABS TO MATCH MILADY'S GOWNS PROMISED IN NEW YORK

New Vehicles Will Be of Heavy Bevel Glass, Very de Luxe.

NEW YORK, July 20.—Taxicabs "de luxe" are soon to be the newest things on Broadway. The new cabs are to surpass in luxuriousness any four-wheeled vehicle in the world, not even excluding the state carriages of royalty.

According to the promoters, the cabs will be mainly constructed of heavy bevel glass so as to show off women's gowns to advantage.

The interior will be lighted with electricity, with reflectors, so as to throw the occupants into prominence. Thus a woman en route to the theater or opera cannot only show off the latest Parisian creation in gowns, but observe the costumes of others as well.

The cabs will be lined with shirred silk and the cushions will be made from costly damasks and brocades. The interior decorations will be removable, so that a woman may order the taxicab furnishings in colors to suit her gowns.

DEPARTMENT STORES GIVE CHEAP TAXICAB SERVICE

CHICAGO, July 20.—Two State street stores yesterday inaugurated a taxicab service for the convenience of their patrons. The innovation allows any customer to take a taxicab from the stores for an uninterrupted journey within a defined district of about one mile in radius for a charge of but 50 cents for from one to five passengers. The district includes all of the terminal railroad stations and all of the downtown hotels. For travel to any destination within the city and outside of the district referred to a discount of 10 per cent from the regular taxicab rates is allowed.

BODIES OF GIRL AND HER ESCORT FOUND IN RIVER

Miss Viola Sensenbrenner and Joseph Garlich Were Drowned Canoeing.

WERE LOST SUNDAY

Dynamite, Grappling Hooks and Nets Used by Searchers.

GIRL FOUND FIRST

She Was Discovered Today About a Mile From Valley Park.

The body of Joseph Garlich, drowned with Miss Viola Sensenbrenner in the Meramec River, was found Wednesday afternoon near Moser's Landing, one mile below the spot where Miss Sensenbrenner's body was found a few hours before, and three miles below the scene of the double drowning last Sunday.

After Miss Sensenbrenner's body was found Wednesday morning, it was left in the water nearly four hours, tied to a dredge, before it was taken out. The law required the Coroner to view the body before its removal, local officials held.

After it was taken out there was a long delay before Coroner Bracy reached the scene to go through the formality of an inquest. He was notified at 8 a. m., but at noon had not left his office.

The body was found by Michael Fickle, watchman for the St. Louis Sand and Gravel Co., a mile below Arnold Station and about a mile and a quarter below the spot where the canoe is supposed to have been overturned.

The girl's brother said that as soon as the inquest was held he would have the body taken to the Heier undertaking establishment at 3432 Shenandoah avenue, and that the funeral probably would take place Thursday afternoon.

Miss Sensenbrenner and Garlich were members of a canoeing party, which included her sister, Edna, and Roy Baker, Clifford Burkhardt and Herbert Baker, the last two living in Webster Groves. The accident occurred about 8 p. m. Sunday. The victims were seen alive last about dark and were together in the canoe.

Burkhardt and Baker saw Miss Sensenbrenner's body Tuesday evening, but were too agitated to recover it.

Those searching for the body exploded dynamite in the river in an effort to raise the bodies and also used grappling hooks and nets.

INSURRECTIONS IN HONDURAS

NEW ORLEANS, July 20.—Insurrections today at Celba and other points on the coast of Honduras are declared by members of the Central American colony here to be the signal for a general uprising of the sympathizers of Manuel Bonilla.

Zelaya and Bonilla are enemies, the feud having been made more bitter when Zelaya caused Bonilla to be deposed as President of Honduras several years ago.

GATES BUYS LAND IN ST. LOUIS FOR HIS OIL PLANTS

The purchase of big tracts of realty in St. Louis by agents for John W. Gates gave rise Wednesday to the report, apparently well founded, that he was preparing to make this city the center of a system of reservoirs and refineries for use in a fight against Standard Oil.

Gates, through Frank L. Wimmer, represented by John B. Kruger, a Chestnut street realty promoter, has purchased 10 acres at Oakland station, between the Frisco and the Missouri Pacific railroad tracks, west of Sappington road, while he recently acquired a large tract at De Kalb avenue and Barton street.

Both of these tracts, it is said, will be occupied by Gates as sites for this purpose.

To Pipe Oil to City.

Gates has large oil wells throughout the Southwest, it being his plan to pipe the oil to St. Louis as a distributing center.

Gates was in conference, through agents, Tuesday with William Irving Edwards of New York, who is in St. Louis looking after Mrs. Grace A. Leathe's St. Louis realty holdings in connection with the Nicholls-Ritter company. This gave rise to the report that a deal is pending for the sale of Mrs. Leathe's Poplar street tract.

This property extends from Fourteenth street to Sixteenth street and has a frontage on the south on the Terminal tracks in Mill Creek Valley.

It is valued at $1,000,000.

Dispatches from New York say the purpose of Gates' visit to the Southwest is to open a fight on Standard Oil, with the aid of a $20,000,000 corporation backed by English and American capitalists. The new combination, which will be allied with Gates' present interests in Texas, will be known as the Central Fuel Oil Co. The company will acquire long-term leases on oil land in Northern Oklahoma, particularly in the Bartlesville field.

ENGLISH MINISTER KILLS HIMSELF IN NEW YORK PARK

Came Here Seeking Pastorate, Widow Says, and Had Everything to Live For.

NEW YORK, July 20.—Arthur Hall of London, a Cambridge man and member of the Eccentric Club of London, shot and killed himself in Colonial Park today.

A photograph of Hall was found in his pocket and with it a letter, evidently from his brother, David Hall, dated San Francisco, and giving the address 1414 Hyde street in that city.

Hall was identified by his wife as the Rev. Athelstan Arthur Hall, who came to this country from England eight months ago with the intention of finding a pastorate. Mrs. Hall said her husband was a man of means and of good standing and that he had everything to live for.

On Tuesday evening, June 14, a little more than a month ago, the famous New Theater Company of New York presented at the Garrick Theater a play by John Galsworthy entitled "Strife," telling a gripping story of the conflict between capital and labor.

This play was so startlingly like the real-life story of the bitter war between the Stove Founders' National Defense Association and the American Federation of Labor, just ended in a compromise, following the death of James W. Van Cleave, representative of capital in the actual drama of today, that, if one did not know of Playwright Galsworthy's having drawn his material from other sources, one might declare his play to be a faithful footlight version of the great St. Louis strike that brought Van Cleave, president of the Buck's Stove and Range Co. of St. Louis, and Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, face to face as deadly antagonists in the battle so amazingly paralleling that fought to a finish in Galsworthy's play.

Especially vivid is the resemblance between the two indomitable leaders of the real-life fight, Van Cleave and Gompers, and those of the stage "Strife," old John Anthony and David Roberts—and it is significantly true, also that in real life and play alike the conflict ended in a compromise on a basis that had originally been rejected.

Comparison of Characters.

Old John Anthony of the play was president of the Ohio River Tin Plate Mills. He had fought organized labor for 30 years. He had whipped it in four bitter wars. His contention was that he had the right to manage his business and employ his workmen as he saw fit, that a great industrial enterprise must have one master, and one only, and that organized labor was fighting, not for equality, but for supremacy. It was his duty, he believed, for himself, for his children, and for the class of which he was representative, to refuse any surrender of his principles—and he proposed to fight to the last.

James W. Van Cleave of the real-life story was president of the Buck Stove and Range Co. He had fought organized labor for many years. It was his contention that the company of which he was the head had the right to employ either union or non-union labor as it saw fit, and his life-long battle with organized labor was for the maintenance of the "open shop" on this basis.

Like old John Anthony of the Galsworthy drama, he believed that every great business must have one master, and but one, and he proposed to be the master of his own business.

It was in this spirit that he led the movement which resulted in the organization of the Citizens' Industrial Association in 1906, of which he was made president, and began one of the longest and bitterest wars in all the history of conflict between capital and labor.

MONON PRESIDENT SLAIN BY BURGLAR IN DUEL AT NIGHT

I. G. Rawn, Found Dying in Summer Home, Is Believed to Have Wounded Assassin in Flight.

CLIMAX TO WAVE OF CRIME IN A SUBURB OF CHICAGO

Police Find "Jimmy" Marks on Window and Stains for 100 Feet on Sidewalk After Shooting at Winnetka, Ill.—Detectives Hired.

By Associated Press.

CHICAGO, July 20.—Ira G. Rawn, president of the Chicago, Indianapolis & Louisville Railroad (the Monon), was murdered in his home at Winnetka, a suburb of this city, today and the police are searching for a wounded man as the murderer.

While none in Rawn's home saw the shooting, it is believed that Rawn shot his assailant, as the police discovered a trail of blood about 100 feet long a short distance east of the house. Two shots were heard by Rawn's family and his revolver was found with one discharged cartridge in it. Only one bullet was found. It is believed that it is the one that passed through Rawn's body just below his heart.

While it is generally believed by the police that the intruder entered the Rawn home to commit burglary, private detectives, working on the case at the request of Rawn's family, intimate that there may have been another motive. The private detectives declare that the work of the man who broke into the house was not that of an expert burglar. A screen door through which he entered had been forced open by breaking off the latches.

Suspect Is Released.

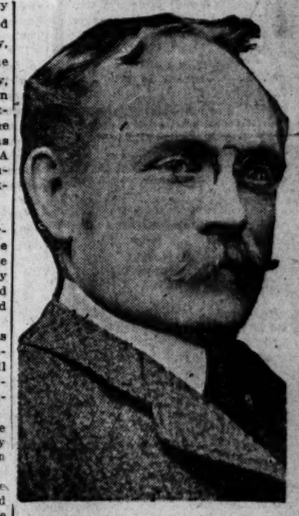

The detectives assert that a burglar could easily have cut away the screen without making the noise which must have been caused by the breaking of the latches and which is thought to have awakened Rawn.

Only one man has been arrested as a suspect and he immediately was released. The police have searched all the suburbs near Winnetka and several laborers' camps, besides watching all trains.

Chicago hospitals and physicians have been asked to notify the police promptly should they be visited by any person suffering from a bullet wound.

Rawn recently was a witness in the Chicago & Western Indiana Railroad cases, in which alleged real estate frauds, aggregating $800,000, were charged against former officials of the road. The case against one of the men still is pending.

State's Attorney Wayman said that he was satisfied that Rawn's testimony in the Chicago & Western Indiana fraud proceedings had nothing to do with the murder. Wayman said he had looked over the testimony today and that he thought it contained nothing by which Rawn could have incurred anyone's enmity.

I. G. RAWN.

Relatives Engage Twenty Private Detectives to Search for Slayer

Twenty private detectives are now working on the case. All have been hired by Rawn's family.

The assassination is the climax to a reign of crime that has excited the residents of the North Shore suburb. The story of the shooting of Rawn was told by Ralph G. Coburn, Rawn's son-in-law, this morning.

"Rawn was awakened by sounds on the first floor of the house," he said. "He insisted upon going downstairs, although Mrs. Rawn tried to persuade him not to.

"He descended the stairs and had barely reached the landing when everyone in the house was awakened by two shots fired in quick succession.

"I rushed out, as did the others. We found Mr. Rawn lying in his night clothes. He struggled, turned over, tried to speak and could not. We sent calls for a doctor. Mr. Rawn died within five or six minutes after the shot had been fired. He did not regain consciousness.

"We immediately summoned the Winnetka police and it was they who found marks on the window which showed that the shooting was done by a burglar.

"The house was occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Rawn, their daughter, Mrs. Bigelow, my wife and myself and our two children. There were also three servants in the house, the cook, Mrs. Rawn's maid and Mrs. Bigelow's maid.

"None of the rest of us heard the burglar."

Private Detectives Hired.

Half an hour after the murder had been committed, detectives had been hired by relatives of Rawn.

"We will offer a reward," said Coburn, "and spare no expense to capture the assassin."

Last April the Rawns moved from their residence in Schiller street, Chicago, to the Gay residence on Pleasant street in Winnetka. They had rented it for the summer.

Rawn has three daughters, all married. They are Mrs. Robert G. Brinkley, Mrs. Ralph G. Coburn and Mrs. D. N. Bigelow.

Rawn was 55 years old, having been born at Delaware, O. He entered the railway service in 1870, beginning as a telegraph operator for the Big Four. After rising to be trainmaster with that road, he went to the Kentucky Central Railway in 1887, as master of transportation. Two years later he became division superintendent and master of transportation of the Chesapeake & Ohio. In 1890 he was made general superintendent of the Baltimore & Ohio Southwestern. He became general manager of that system in 1904, and in 1907 was made vice-president in charge of operation of the Illinois Central lines. About a year ago he was elected president of the Monon.

LIGHTNING STRIKES AEROPLANE WHICH FALLS TO EARTH AFIRE

PARIS, July 20.—While making a cross-country flight today, Aviator Ehrmann's aeroplane was struck by lightning and fell blazing to the ground. The aviator escaped uninjured.

There has never been a more startling exhibition than that which Ehrmann unwillingly afforded. He was sailing along at a moderate height when he got in the path of a sky bolt.

Instantly the aeroplane was enveloped in flames, its canvas wings shriveled up, and clinging to the skeleton of his craft, Ehrmann came down like a dead rocket.

MRS. GARDNER IS WITNESS TO TELL OF $17,000 NOTE

Insurance Promoter Says Wife Will Testify, Following Refusal of Writ.

HEARING AT 2 O'CLOCK

Former Receiver Asserts That He Can Find Only $350 in Assets.

The Supreme Court at Jefferson City having denied a writ of prohibition asked by lawyers for Harry B. Gardner against the receivership proceedings involving his twin insurance companies, a continuance of the hearing of testimony was scheduled for 2 p. m. Wednesday in Referee Caulfield's office in the Chemical Building.

Before the hearing Gardner announced that his wife would be present to tell about the $17,000 note, secured by a deed of trust, which he had turned over to her, although she was not personally served with a subpena. The subpena was served on Gardner. Judge Withrow ruled that this was not binding.

The purpose of the hearing before Caulfield is to recover the $17,000 note, which Gardner says he gave to his wife, a few days before the receivership proceedings began, in payment for a 12-year-old debt. If the action is successful, and Mrs. Gardner is forced to give up the note, her husband still technically will be out of debt to her, since she gave him a receipt for the money, which he turned over to Henry W. Femmer, trustee in bankruptcy proceedings against Gardner in 1907. Femmer still holds this receipt.

Assets Are Only $350.

Femmer said Wednesday that he was ready to report on the bankruptcy case to Walter D. Coles, referee. He had been able to find only $350 assets in Gardner's possession, obtained prior to the bankruptcy suit, he said. This is an equity in 80 acres of Missouri farm land, on which there is a deed of trust for $3000.

When Femmer became trustee, he gave bond for $50,000. He pays $60 a year to keep this up, he smilingly observed, although the assets in the case are only $350.

In denying the application for a writ of prohibition, the Supreme Court took the same view as Judges Withrow and McQuillin, before whom these points had been threshed out at the beginning of the suits.

Threatens Suit for Salary.

E. L. Waggoner is president of the St. Louis National Life Insurance Co., following the acquisition of a controlling interest by C. G. Sutherland, and the office of general-manager has been abolished, but Baird Pallette, served with notice of his dismissal, says he is still general-manager and threatens to sue for his salary and damages.

Waggoner succeeds Otto H. Rassfeld, who was elected temporarily when Harry B. Gardner relinquished the presidency at the instance of Insurance Commissioner Blake. E. S. Lewis is vice-president. William T. Nardin and Dr. J. A. Shober were added to the board of directors.

Phillip J. Dauernheim, O. T. Upshaw and W. L. Rowley will remain on the board, the latter as secretary. The services of Rassfeld, Victor W. Reitz, A. A. Hunt and W. A. Kammerer with the company ceases. Hunt has been released as counsel. Nardin is expected to succeed him, without salary. All the new officers are to work without salary except Rowley.

He elects to stand on his contract and says he will ask the courts to help him draw the salary of general-manager even if he does not perform the functions.

Sutherland is interested in the Citizen's National Life of Louisville, Ky., and it is expected that the St. Louis concern will be merged with the Louisville company. He says, however, that the company will continue in business here.

New Regime in Firm.

Pallette interrupted a council of the new officials to announce that he was still general-manager of the concern and expected to assert his rights. He says his contract runs three years from May 20, this year, with an annual salary of $4000, and he expects to collect it. If charges are made against him he says he will make counter charges.

The New Way to and From Chicago.

In response to renewed petitions from the Business Men's associations of the West End and North St. Louis, the Wabash is now operating its magnificent "Banner Limited" train through the West End and North St. Louis. The "Banner Limited" IS THE ONLY AFTERNOON TRAIN OPERATED BETWEEN ST. LOUIS AND CHICAGO. Leaves Union Station 1:20 p. m.; Vandeventer avenue, 1:36 p. m.; Delmar avenue, 1:45 p. m.; Florissant avenue, 2 p. m.; arrives Chicago, 9:30 p. m. Returning, leaves Chicago, 12:04 p. m.; arrives Florissant avenue, 7:19 p. m.; Delmar avenue, 7:36 p. m.; Vandeventer avenue, 7:42 p. m.; Union Station, 7:57 p. m., thus enabling passengers to reach their homes early in the evening.

GOVERNOR INDICTED FOR LIBEL

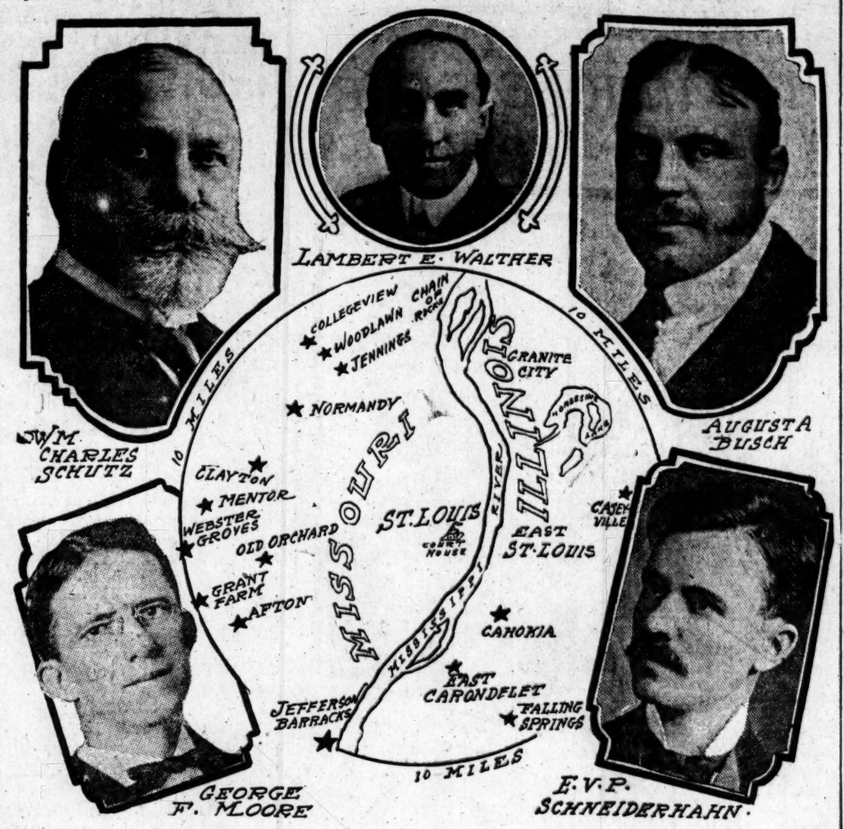

DES MOINES, Io., July 20.—Gov. B. F. Carroll of Iowa was indicted for criminal libel by the Polk Grand Jury today. The indictment is the outgrowth of an investigation of affairs at the Iowa Industrial School for girls at Mitchellville.

It is alleged in the bill that the governor made libelous statements concerning John Cownie, former chairman of the State Board of Control, in an article published in the Des Moines Capital of May 24.

ZONE ESTABLISHED BY BUSCH BILL AND MEN PROMINENT IN DISCUSSION OF THE MEASURE

Diagram map of the ten-mile zone radiating from the St. Louis Courthouse, in which the Manufacturers' Railway agrees to charge no more than 30 cents for carrying freight. The passenger rate is to be five cents from any one point in this zone to any other point. The cities and towns included in this territory are indicated on the map.

BILL LETS BUSCH ROAD TAKE CITY APPROACHES TO BRIDGE

PROVISIONS ANALYZED

Only Portion of Upkeep to Be Paid by the Manufacturers' Railway.

Under the franchise authorizing the Manufacturers' Railway to build, operate and rent to other railroads east and west connections with the free bridge, the company may, according to those who have studied the bill now before the Council, exercise the option of acquiring at its actual cost all the land recently purchased by the city for its own approach along the "E" line in East St. Louis, and of crossing, occupying or obstructing that route at will.

In the second section of the bill right is given to the Manufacturers' company to build its eastern approach to the bridge "in an easterly, northeasterly or southeasterly direction to a point either east of the present location of the St. Louis, Iron Mountain & Southern's right-of-way, or east of the Illinois Transfer Railroad Co., or any subsidiary or auxiliary company, or the Terminal Railroad Association."

This provision, it is contended, would permit the Busch road to construct its east approach on or across the "E" line and thus exclude the city from the route that, above all others, it should own and control.

Bill Follows Conferences.

The drafting of the bill followed a number of conferences between August A. Busch, President George F. Moore and the attorneys for the Manufacturers' Railway and members of the Municipal Assembly. Councilmen Schutz and Scheiderhahn took prominent part.

The supporters of the bill declare it the fairest proposition that has yet been submitted, as long as the city is not able itself to provide the funds.

No choice is given to the city as to whether it shall sell to the Manufacturers' road the land that has been bought or covered by option along the "E" line.

The bill provides that "if the company shall determine to locate its eastern approach along or over land owned in fee by the city or on which the city has options, it may do so upon paying the city the actual amount expended by the city in the acquisition thereof."

That section, it is held, gives the city no freedom to refuse the company's tender of money for the land acquired for an eastern approach to the bridge, and no right to demand interest on the $50,000 invested.

Pays Only Part of Upkeep.

The Busch road promises to stand the cost of the bridge's upkeep, but excepts such important items as reconstruction, the replacement or repair of stone or steel work, painting and repainting, and all expenditures on the wagon deck.

Section eight of the bill amends the company's first franchise so as to relieve it of the obligation of building inclines, operating ferries, and constructing a belt line seven miles long in Illinois. The company may, however, hold for five years longer the privilege of operating ferries. This right it has never exercised.

By way of consideration for the valuable rights which the Manufacturers' company seeks, it agrees to make St. Louis the basing point of all its rates for passengers and freight, "subject to Federal or State regulation," to charge not more than 30 cents a ton for hauling coal to St. Louis from mines on its road or any line leased or controlled by it; to consider St. Louis and East St. Louis as within the same rate zone; to accept a reasonable division of the rate for transportating freight originating on other roads; to carry passengers between points within a radius of 10 miles of the Courthouse for 5 cents each, and to give the city all rentals, in excess of 6 per cent on the cost of the approaches.

Failure to observe provision of the franchise, it is agreed, will work a forfeiture of all the rights granted. A bond of $250,000 is required to further insure compliance with the conditions of the grant.

Summary of Provisions.

It gives the company the right to use lower deck of the Free Bridge and to build, own, operate and rent to other roads east and west approach to diverge from bridge at some point between Broadway and west pier, and to reach grade at a point not further south than Soulard street nor farther west than Third street.

Provides that east approach shall diverge at point 2263 feet east of eastern pier and extend in an easterly, northeasterly or southeasterly direction to grade between the Iron Mountain right-of-way on the west and the Terminal's Belt on the east.

Stipulates that the Board of Public Improvements shall approve the location of the east approach.

Obligates the company to acquire land for both approaches, except where streets and alleys are to be occupied.

Gives the company the right to purchase, at its original cost to the city, land along the line on the East Side.

Compels the company to own sites for approaches.

Provides that company must begin to acquire land within two months after passage of the pending bill and to have its approaches built by the time the bridge is completed.

Reserves to the city the ownership and control of the ties and rails on the bridge proper, but company must pay for them.

Puts on the company and other roads cost of maintaining the bridge, except replacement of stone and steel work, tracks and rails on main structure, painting and repainting and all repairs to the wagon deck.

Binds the city to exact of other roads which may use the approaches a contract to prorate with the Manufacturers' company the cost of maintenance and to pay a rental equal to 2½ per cent of the cost of constructing the approaches.

Permits other roads and the city to build additional approaches to the bridge, "provided they do not materially interfere with the company's reasonable use" of its own.

Authorizes the city and other roads to use the Busch line's approaches for a rental of 2½ per cent on their cost and a pro rata of the expense of maintaining them and the roadway on the main structure.

Allows the city to purchase the approaches at their actual cost, determined from the company's books, without interest or compensation for land donated to the grantee.

Provides that all earnings from rentals, in excess of 6 per cent, shall be paid to the city.

Promises to make St. Louis the basing point of all the company's rates, "subject to the regulations of State and Federal authorities."

Establishes New Rate Zone.

Establishes St. Louis and East St. Louis as the same rate zone.

Fixes a maximum rate of 30 cents a ton on coal transported "wholly by the Manufacturers' company from mines on its lines or lines leased or controlled by it."

Obliges the company to accept a reasonable division of rates on freight hauled by it and any other road jointly.

Requires the company to give a penal bond of $250,000.

Contains an agreement to arbitrate all disputes between the company and the city or between the company and any other road.

Offers the city no compensation except the rental paid to the company in excess of 6 per cent, the rails and ties—estimate at $30,000—on the bridge proper, and a small contribution to the expense of maintaining one deck.

Goes Over to October.

After remaining in session several weeks longer than was originally intended, to permit the introduction of the Busch bill Tuesday night, the Municipal Assembly has adjourned until Oct. 4.

This long adjournment is a concession made by members of the Council to the House of Delegates to prevent the defeat of the measure in that branch of the Assembly.

NAVAL RESERVES DEPART TO BRING MONITOR TO ST. LOUIS

To bring the monitor Amphitrite to St. Louis, 102 members of the Missouri Naval Reserves left Union Station Wednesday afternoon on a special train for New Orleans. Commander W. F. Roberts and Lieutenant-Commander G. F. Schwartz were in charge of the white-clad volunteers. One of the three divisions was from Kansas City.

Mothers, sisters and feminine acquaintances of the reserves went to the station and waved good-by to them. The journey is expected to consume two weeks, and it will be the duty of the reserves to take charge of the Amphitrite, now in the harbor of New Orleans, and bring her to St. Louis, or as near the city as the stage of the river will permit. The officers hope to reach Cairo, but are not sure of making any point above the Ohio's mouth until considerably later in the season.

ST. LOUISANS TAKE OVERCOATS TO THE SUMMER GARDENS

Heavy Wraps Are Worn When Low Record of 57 Degrees Is Made for July.

In the (br-r-r) good old summer time
In this (at-ohoo!) chill St. Louis clime,
You must wear an overcoat, if you'd be in line.
You glove your hands and (boo-oo) muff your ears,
And that's a very good sign
That you're prepared for winter in
The good old (u-ugh) summer time.

Overcoats are au fait, de rigueur, and a la mode, and on the whole a very comfortable and necessary thing, in St. Louis these July evenings.

Summer garden goers have been wearing winter garb for two nights. At almost any of the resorts Tuesday night it was no uncommon thing to see men lined up at the box office wearing moth-scented benjamins, and women tripping gaily about in Norfolk jackets and heavy wraps.

Judge O'Neill Ryan wore not only an overcoat, but a regular ulster, when he visited Suburban Garden Tuesday night. Its edge touched his shoetops and the former jurist looked comfortable and contented. His was the heaviest overcoat seen, but light spring overcoats were worn by a number of men, young and old.

Cooler in Suburbs.

Women had their wraps and on cars going to and returning from the gardens there was a general closing of windows.

The temperature in the western part of the city was 57 degrees—the lowest for July in St. Louis that the Weather Bureau has recorded.

Dwellers in the suburbs had to use comforts and blankets Tuesday night to keep warm.

It was seven degrees warmer in the heart of the city than it was in the suburbs. This is accounted for by the weather bureau by the very clear sky, which caused rapid radiation and a settling of the cold air in the suburban sections. Radiation was not so rapid in the heart of the city and consequently the lowest temperature recorded downtown was 62 degrees.

It has been cool generally throughout the country during the last few days.

There was a cool wave in July last year. The lowest temperature then recorded was 61 degrees, July 19.

Eastern Rate Increase Suspended.

WASHINGTON, July 20.—Important advances in freight rates recently made by the railways in Eastern classification territory will be suspended voluntarily by the railroads until Nov. 1 next. This agreement was made by a committee representing the carriers and by Chairman Knapp of the Interstate Commerce Commission.

Buck Stove Fight on Labor Resembles "Strife"

life to the cause of organized labor. He had fought in every war against capital since he was old enough to be a wage-earner. Like old John Anthony, his tremendous antagonist, he believed the conflict to be inevitable and inexorable. It was his contention that capital would yield only to force. He proposed to use this weapon for the protection of the class to which he belonged.

He contributed $4000, his savings of a lifetime, to prolong the strike of which he was the leader. His wife died of starvation during the progress of that strike. He was willing to lay down his own life in the struggle.

"They are welcome to my body!" he cried, urging his fellow-workmen to fight to the bitter end for the sake of the coming generations of workers.

Samuel Gompers of the real-life "strife" has devoted his entire life to the cause of organized labor. A cigar maker and always a fervent union man, he has taken part in every battle fought between capital and labor since he was old enough to be a breadwinner. It was his unflinching and always aggressive loyalty to organized labor that caused him first to be elected to the Presidency of the American Federation in a great annual convention held in old Central Turner Hall in St. Louis more than 20 years ago.

Was Sentenced to Prison.

In the bitter conflict in which James W. Van Cleave was his antagonist, he took resolute action that caused him to be sentenced to serve a term in prison, the suit at law thus brought about being still in the courts. Gompers may well be regarded as willing to make any sacrifice for the cause of organized labor. The cry of David Roberts—"They are welcome to my body!"—might come not unfittingly from his own lips.

The differences that caused the mill-workers' strike in "Strife" arose from the demand of the workmen for a scale of pay and hours in conformity with established union rules. The differences that caused the real-life "Strife," in which James W. Van Cleave and Samuel Gompers stood opposed as great antagonists, were similar in nature, a union demand as to wages, hours and conditions of employment, to which the Buck Stove and Range Company of St. Louis refused to accede, being its basis.

The only points in which the mimic and the real "Strife" differ is that, in the Galsworthy play the striking mill-workers were not supported by their national organization, while in the St. Louis "Strife" the strikers received the unqualified support of the American Federation of Labor, and that the Galsworthy drama ended with the piteous betrayal and defeat of both leaders in the conflict, old John Anthony being overruled by the board of directors of the mill of which he was the president, and David Roberts being repudiated by his fellow-workmen.

The termination of both the mimic and the real-life strike in a compromise that might easily have been reached in the beginning, thus averting the strike, presents a significant parallel.

Meeting Called for Settlement.

A meeting of the officials of the various metal workers' unions to settle all differences with the management of the Buck Stove & Range Co. will be held within 30 days. This meeting was agreed upon Tuesday at a meeting held in Cincinnati. The conflict thus to be terminated began in 1906 over the length of the metal polishers' day.

President Van Cleave of the Buck Stove & Range Co. stood out against the men's nine-hour demand, enlisted the stove founders' national organization in his support, and then declared the "open shop." This principle became the basis of the Citizens' Industrial Association, of which he was president for several years.

The unions representing the iron trades then declared a boycott on the Buck company, which was taken up by the national labor organization. In a District of Columbia court, the Buck company obtained an injunction forbidding Samuel Gompers, John Mitchell and others printing notices of the boycott in labor publications controlled by them. An alleged violation of this injunction caused the order for the imprisonment of the labor leaders. The latter appealed and the case is still pending. It is not thought to be affected by the treaty of peace now agreed upon.

Can Still Be Prosecuted.

Until officials of the department of justice have communicated with Attorney General Wickersham, now en route to Alaska, no announcement will be made, in Washington, dispatches say, concerning the procedure which may be had in the pending prosecutions of the officials of the American Federation of Labor.

Notwithstanding the agreement reached in Cincinnati by representatives of the federation and the Stove Founders' National Defense Association to end the warfare, no assurances were forthcoming that the cases against Gompers, Mitchell and Frank Morrison for contempt of court would be discontinued.

It is pointed out that while the contempt proceedings were pushed by the stove company, which has now withdrawn its legal representatives, the case has gone beyond them and the issue is at present one of national law and the dignity of the courts.

Agreement Between the Buck Stove Co. and Labor Leaders

FIRST, a meeting within 30 days to determine wages, hours of labor and conditions of employment.

Second, agreement reached at this meeting to be based on wages and conditions in the shops of competing firms on a union basis, and to take effect in 90 days.

Third, the labor organizations to call off the boycott, and make that fact generally known.

Fourth, the Buck's company to withdraw its attorneys from all cases pending in court as a result of its dispute with the unions.

Fifth, copy of agreement to be published in official labor journals and posted in the Buck's company shops.

PRESIDENT TAFT IS AT SEA; DUE IN BAR HARBOR TODAY

Executive Is Likely to Deliver Speech Upon His Arrival.

EASTPORT, Me., July 20.—The Mayflower, having President Taft and party on board, left Eastport at 8 o'clock today and is due in Bar Harbor late in the afternoon. Urgent requests have been made for President Taft to deliver a short speech in Bar Harbor, and he intimated that he might consent to do so Thursday.

Mrs. Taft and others of the party were guests at Campobello Tuesday afternoon, and H. M. Merriman took the visitors in his launch for a deep sea fishing trip this morning.

They returned shortly before the Mayflower was pointed out of the harbor.

TWO BUCKET SHOP WARRANTS ISSUED FOR CAPT. C. A. TILLES

St. Louisan Is Accused of Violating Laws of District of Columbia.

Two warrants were issued against Capt. C. A. Tilles of St. Louis Wednesday by United States Commissioner Chase Morsey, following indictments against Tilles at Washington in May. The complaints were sworn to by George M. Scarborough, a special agent of the Department of Justice, who arrived in St. Louis Wednesday from Washington. Tilles was notified of the issuance of the warrants and he informed the officers that he would appear Wednesday afternoon and give bond.

The warrants charge Tilles with operating a bucket shop at 1420 New York avenue Northwest, Washington, and with a conspiracy to violate the law of the District of Columbia.

The Washington indictments, in addition to Tilles, named Louis and Angelo Cella and Sam W. Adler. The Cellas gave bond in New York. They are charged with operating the Standard Stock and Grain Co. of Jersey City, N. J., as a bucketshop. Tilles lives in St. Louis and the warrants have been issued to enable the Federal officers to arrest Tilles here.

FALLING HAIR

Can Easily Be Stopped; Also Dandruff and Itching Scalp

If Parisian Sage doesn't stop falling hair, itching scalp, and eradicate dandruff in two weeks, Wolff-Wilson Drug Co. stands ready to refund your money without argument or red tape of any kind.

Parisian Sage will put a fascinating radiance into any woman's hair in a few days. It quickly cools the scalp in summer and drives away all obnoxious odors.

Susanne Calahan, of Hotel Royal, Bucyrus, Ohio, on March 25, 1910, wrote: "Last August mother's hair began to come out very badly and her scalp was so sore it was very hard to do anything for it. We decided to use Parisian Sage, and it proved a GRAND SUCCESS every way. Her hair stopped coming out, dandruff all disappeared, soreness all left the scalp and her hair is coming in again very nicely.

"We recommend it to every one needing it, and feel that we cannot praise Parisian Sage too highly."

Parisian Sage is sold by druggists everywhere and by Wolff-Wilson Drug Co. for 50 cents a large bottle. The girl with the Auburn hair is on every bottle. Mail orders filled, charges prepaid, by Giroux Mfg. Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

SAWYER GAINING FOR PRESIDENCY OF THE AD MEN

St. Louis Man Makes Many Friends as Omaha Convention Draws to Close.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

OMAHA, Neb., July 20.—The ad men of America are here, 500 strong, for their sixth annual convention, which is the most successful that has been held. I. H. Sawyer of St. Louis seems to be gaining strength every day in his candidacy for the presidency.

S. C. Dodds, the president, in his opening address, which gained great applause, said, among other things:

"The three great educational institutions of this country, namely: the newspapers, the weekly periodicals and the monthly magazines, are doing more in an educational way than any other influence I know. Unfortunately, this education is not always free from taint, inasmuch as the columns of some newspapers are sometimes made subservient to political or financial influences and the spirit of demagogy too often dominates them. But, withal, they are performing a great service and are helping to build the greatest nation on earth, a nation of reading and thinking people.

"Not many years ago a daily newspaper was an almost unthought of luxury. The purchase of a prominent weekly for the average family was an extravagance and magazines were published only for the wealthy. But that has all changed and you advertising men are responsible in a very large measure for the evolution. Through the avenue of advertising space the daily penny papers have been made possible. There is scarcely a family that cannot and does not afford a daily paper. Likewise the popularity of the 10 and 15 cent magazines has been brought about by the tremendous amount of advertising placed in them. In other words, here are three great educational institutions that are receiving a perpetual endowment from the advertisers of America."

As indicating the spread of interest in advertising, President Dodds said that within a few days he had received a letter from an advertising man in India who had read one of his speeches and who asked that literature concerning the national organization be sent to him. He had also received a letter from a man in Samoa, and one from Odessa, Russia.

Officers will be elected and the place for the next meeting selected this afternoon and the convention then will adjourn.

Interest is shown by the delegates in the choice of the next convention city. Denver, St. Louis, Milwaukee and Boston seem to be the leaders in the contest for that honor.

AIRSHIP DELIGHTS BLASE BROADWAY BY A NIGHT VISIT

New York Aeronaut Maneuvers Over Street in Glare of Searchlights.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, July 20.—Miss Broadway flirted with a caller in the sky last night. The caller was Frank Goodale, the young aeronaut who has been planning ever so long to depart from Palisade Park on a night call on Miss Broadway. She said last night he had "made very good," voicing the opinion with a deafening tooting of automobile horns, continuous cheers from street crowds, and finally a flash of her searchlight eyes which revealed Goodale seated complacently in his comparatively small dirigible trying to stare things below out of countenance while he pumped oil into the cups of his motor.

It was just 40 minutes from the time he left Palisade Park amid the cheers of merrymakers, until he returned to receive an ovation from them. Goodale says it was the greatest night flight on record in this country. He traveled at an average speed of 15 miles an hour. The greatest altitude was reached passing over the Hudson, about 1500 feet, and the lowest while loafing above Broadway, less than 300 feet at times, he says.

Pedestrians on Riverside Drive were first to catch sight of the daring young aeronaut—Goodale is only 21. The explosions of the motor attracted their attention and they set up a cheer which called the attention of others to the picture in the sky. As Goodale steered a course more nearly within eyeshot of the streets, thousands along the route saw the dirigible. Automobiles sent up hoarse salutes and tried to follow the balloon's course. Because of traffic obstacles few if any could keep up.

Playgoers Are Fascinated.

Goodale was almost on a level with the tallest buildings when he reached Forty-second street, where he made three complete circles around the Times Building. The snorts from his powerful motor were heard distinctly until the blare of auto horns and the exclamations from the crowds drowned the sounds of explosion. His arrival over head nearly broke up the show on the roof garden of one of the theaters. The garden crowd jumped from its seats and began a demonstration which continued until the dirigible passed out of view.

Passing over the roof of the Hotel Astor, searchlights were thrown on the dirigible, illuminating it for the benefit of thousands along Broadway. Having had his fill of the sights, Goodale turned his helm for the homeward journey, continuing along Broadway to Fifty-third street, then shipping toward the west so that he passed directly over the Soldiers and Sailors' Monument on Riverside Drive, and making for the upper levels crossed above the Hudson and alighted safely without having to throw overboard a single bag of the 30 pounds of ballast which he carried.

Goodale's is a Strobel dirigible. The balloon is 58 feet long and 15 feet in its greatest diameter. It was filled last night to its capacity of 7500 cubic feet of gas. Zeppelin's dirigible has a capacity of 200,000 cubic feet of gas and is nearly 500 feet long.

Paulhan Enters for $30,000 Race; Likes the Plan

PARIS, July 20.—Aviator Paulhan in a letter to the Post-Dispatch correspondent here announces that he will enter for the Post-Dispatch-World prize in the New York-St. Louis contest, although he may be unable to participate personally, as he hopes. He says he will certainly compete for the big prize, if not in person, through the entry of pilots under his direction. It is generally believed in France that Paulhan will never again enter a competition, having practically retired on a fortune to devote himself to the manufacture of aeroplanes and the training of pilots. But Paulhan is greatly interested in the Post-Dispatch-World New York-St. Louis, which he believes is entirely practicable.

In his letter Paulhan says:

"I hereby and now make entry for myself or my pilots for the Post-Dispatch-World prize, which, I am confident, will be won before the expiration of the time fixed."

Paulhan is now at Sartrouville, where he is busily engaged in training pilots to fly machines of his own manufacture.

It is believed here that Leblanc, Latham and Labouchere who are among to America to compete for the James Gordon Bennett prize, will also make an effort to win the New York-St. Louis race. At present all these aviators are out of the city and it has been impossible to communicate with them to learn their intentions definitely.

Candidates for the St. Louis Race Prize to Begin Try-Outs

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, July 20.—When the aviators begin flying over the new aerodrome at Long Beach, L. I., next Monday, they will also begin to train to enter the World-Post-Dispatch $30,000 flight from New York to St. Louis.

Louis Strang, the automobile racer, is one of them. The machine which he purposes to use in the New York to St. Louis flight will be a Bleriot monoplane with a 100-horsepower motor.

W. M. Bette, who is managing the aviators at Long Beach, said today three other machines would be entered in the Post-Dispatch-World flight—a Bleriot, with a 30-horsepower Clement-Bayard motor, Ellsworth Yagerman as aviator, Philip Wilcox's biplane with a 50-horsepower motor, and a Strang biplane with a six-cylinder 70-horsepower Elbridge motor, William Post as aviator.

"We are all enthusiastic about the conditions of the flight," said Mr. Bette. "In making the four entries we will do so with the hope of winning the prize. That $30,000 looks good to all the aviators, and none is going to lose time in working for it."

The aerodrome at Long Beach will be one of the best in this country when completed. There will be no grand stand, the board walk will be used instead. The field adjoins the board walk for 800 feet. Harry Bronner of Dayton has offered a prize for the aviators who fly at the seashore resort. The headquarters of the aviators will be the Nassau Hotel.

Flyer at Mineola Buffeted by the Wind and Injured

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, July 20.—Joseph Stephenson was near death when he lost control of the elevating rudder of the aeroplane he was attempting to fly at Mineola, L. I., yesterday afternoon. A sudden gust hit the front plane just as the biplane left the ground at almost a right angle, making it impossible for the aviator to bring it on an even keel. The machine crashed to earth, pinning Stephenson, unconscious, under the wreckage until William Watson and George Christopher, his partners, went to his aid.

The wrecked machine was lifted up and Stephenson taken from under, still dazed. His entire left side seemed paralyzed. As he regained consciousness he was lifted into an automobile and taken to the Nassau County Hospital. The doctors there announced that the aviator was not seriously injured, but only severely bruised. Stephenson was driven back to the aviation field, where he insisted on helping to remove the wrecked aeroplane to its shed.

Capt. Baldwin made another cross-country flight in his biplane of six minutes' duration. He said that all these practice flights would put him in trim for the World-Post-Dispatch New York-St. Louis 1000-mile flight which he intends to enter.

George Russell also showed good form. He made two circuits around the field at a height of nearly forty feet. It was the eighth time that Russell has made flights in his machine. The aviation colony is surprised at his progress.

Jack Seymore, the automobile racer, also brought his biplane out for a spin and made some daring maneuvers through the air at a high rate of speed.

Harmon's Offer of Cup for Halfway Prize Is Accepted

NEW YORK, July 20.

CLIFFORD B. HARMON'S offer of a thousand dollar cup to the first aviator reaching, within 50 consecutive hours, the half-way point between New York and St. Louis on the aeroplane flight for the $30,000 prize offered by the World and St. Louis Post-Dispatch has been accepted. Mr. Harmon, who is president of the National Council of Aero Clubs and a distinguished amateur aviator, made his offer on Sunday from the Loon Lake House. On his return to the city yesterday he received the following message:

"The World accepts with thanks your generous offer of a thousand dollar cup for the aviator who first reaches the half-way mark between New York and St. Louis within 50 consecutive hours while competing for the World-Post-Dispatch $30,000 prize.

(Signed) THE WORLD.

WOODROW WILSON OPPOSED IN OWN DISTRICT FOR GOVERNOR

TRENTON, N. J., July 20.—The Trenton Evening Times has just completed a postal card canvass on the Democratic gubernatorial situation. The canvass shows that Woodrow Wilson, president of Princeton University, is overwhelmingly opposed for the nomination in his own county, Mercer.

Return post cards were sent to a selected list of 350 leading Democrats, requesting them to state their preference for Governor. Already 207 of the cards have been returned, with this result: For Katzenbach, 201; for Wilson, 2; for Judge Vroom, 1; for Senator Silzer, 1; for "Katzenbach or Silzer," 1; for "the right man," 1.

Singularly enough, every card that has come in from Princeton has been for Katzenbach.

PROPRIETARY MEDICINES PRESCRIBED BY DOCTORS

Examination of the formulary departments of leading drug stores throughout the country has proved that a very large percentage of the prescriptions filed for doctors are for proprietary medicines.

This is because the average doctor of today is unable to devise prescriptions equally as efficacious.

Such standard remedies as Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound are prescribed over and over again by fair-minded physicians throughout the country.—ADV.

BRINKOP INVADES COUNTY IN HUNT FOR TAX DODGERS

He Compares His Books With Those of Assessor, Jacobsmeyer.

These be the days when commuters perspire
Trying to dodge the assessor's axe.
Even if safe past Jacobsmeyer,
Still they are stuck, for Brinkop's the tax.

Caught betwixt the devil and the deep blue sea, what is the rich commuter to do? If Assessor Brinkop of St. Louis and Assessor Jacobsmeyer of St. Louis County are going to pow-wow and make things unpleasant, living in the county will cease to be good form. Where is the profit in a suburban home if you must pay your taxes, anyhow? Answer that.

Assessor Brinkop is at the bottom of it—he who had some of St. Louis' millionaires arrested for failure to make returns on their personal property. But to stretch his long arm into St. Louis County—that really is carry his zeal too far, suburbanites will tell you.

"My Home Is in the County."

"My home is in the county," 15 men of wealth told Brinkop, when he asked for returns on their personal property; "we pay out there."

So Brinkop went out Monday afternoon to see Jacobsmeyer about it.

"It may be," he speculated, "that these 15 men are telling you that, since their offices are in St. Louis, they pay their personal taxes downtown."

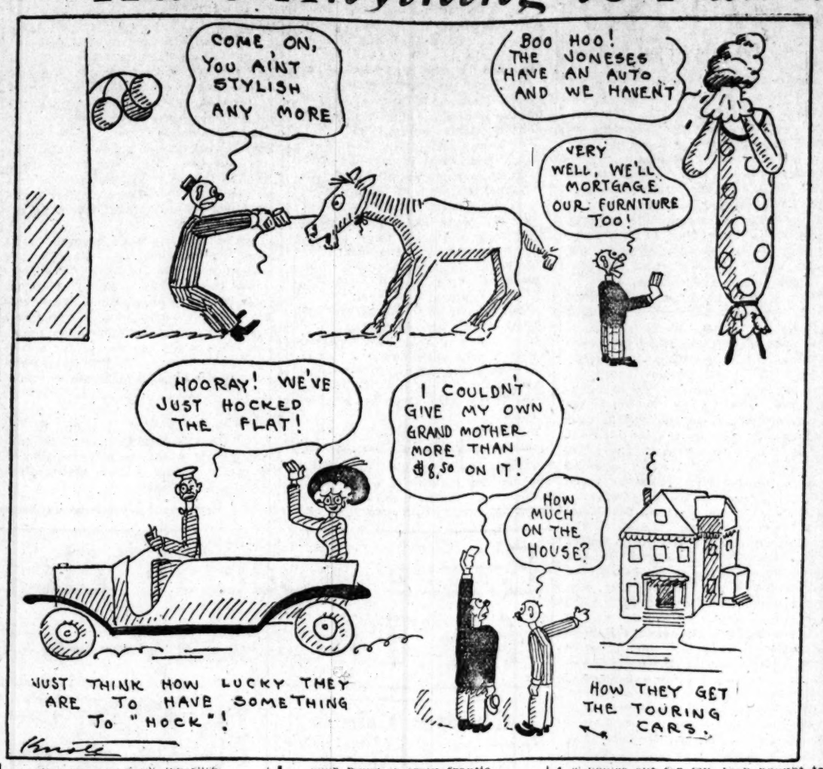

The two assessors got out their books and began making comparisons. Neither will tell just what was the result of their labors, but they admit that Brinkop's speculation was not nearly so far wrong as the sporting writers' speculations about the Reno fight. In fact, they say his speculation was for the most part verified. But Brinkop is not striving to achieve any distinction as a speculator. His purpose is to head off the tax dodgers.

The two assessors expect, as a result of their talk, to catch some agile suburbanites between the upper and the nether millstones, and squeeze out of them the taxes on sundry, diamonds and stocks and bonds.

A Popular Move.

The action of the Wabash in scheduling its magnificent "Banner Limited" train, which leaves Union Station 1:30 p. m., through the West End and North St. Louis, is greatly appreciated, as it will enable residents of these sections of St. Louis to board the train at Vandeventer avenue 1:36 p. m., Delmar avenue 1:45 p. m., Florissant avenue 2 p. m., arrive Chicago 9:30 p. m. Returning, leave Chicago 12:04 p. m., arrive Florissant avenue 7:19 p. m., Delmar avenue 7:35 p. m., Vandeventer avenue 7:42 p. m., Union Station 5:57 p. m., thus avoiding the long ride to and from Union Station.

HOCK, HOCK AND THEN HONK, HONK; OFF FOR JOY RIDE

Every Three Days Some St. Louisan Files a Mortgage to Get Auto.

Every three days a St. Louisan mortgages his home or other property to buy an automobile.

The books at the office of Charles F. Joy, Recorder of Deeds for the city of St. Louis, show this.

Sometimes the mortgage is on the would-be joy-rider's home; again it is on the automobile itself. There is nothing particular to show. Anyway, he gets the machine.

W. A. Ehrler, Chief Deputy Recorder, was not surprised when he read the following telegram from New York to the Post-Dispatch Wednesday:

Over-indulgence in automobiles is said to be the cause for many of the present ills of the security market, and Wall Street has been liberally supplied in the last few months with stories of the extremes to which the craze to own a machine has carried persons and the necessity bankers have been under to exercise a censorship on loans to prevent an epidemic of auto buying.

Most of these stories have come from the West, but yesterday Wall Street heard the lid had been screwed down by bankers in New York.

Concern Sought Loan.

The Financial World told yesterday of "one of the largest and best known automobile manufacturing companies in the country going from bank to bank in New York City and asking in vain for a loan of $650,000 on $750,000 real estate mortgages as collateral."

The meat of the story was that these mortgages "representing property valued at $1,000,000 or more" had been put up originally by the buyers of cars who had mortgaged their homes to satisfy their speed mania. To emphasize the unsoundness of the situation the Financial World went on to say:

"A Wall street investment house, which took the trouble to look into the real estate mortgages filed in the Register's office in New York City, ascertained that in one day 45 per cent of the mortgages were in favor of automobile dealers or manufacturers."

A canvas of banks in the financial district failed to identify any such incident as the Financial World describes. It was said, however, that any such company probably would be accommodated without other collateral than their own notes.

"When a chattel mortgage is filed in this office," said Mr. Ehrler, "there is nothing on the face of it to show for what purpose the money was borrowed, but so many of these mortgages are given on automobiles that it stands to reason that these machines were bought by men who could not pay for them outright, but who made a partial payment and gave their notes for the rest.

Many Autos Mortgaged.

"A mortgage may be simply filed here, or it may be recorded. If it is recorded, that is a sign that the holder of the mortgage has doubts about the ability of the man to pay, and it is a noticeable fact, so our chattel mortgage man tells me, that the great majority of mortgages thus placed on record are on automobiles."

Every Ice Box Should Contain Fer-Mil-Lac

Fer-Mil-Lac is the greatest home-drink in existence because of its excellent flavor and high percentage of food value.

DELICIOUS
FER-MIL-LAC
CULTURED MILK

There is nothing else half so good or good for you.

It is simply whole milk. But the milk is processed to make it digestible and give it a wonderful flavor. So everyone can drink it and like it.

Even those who can't digest milk in its usual form and those who don't like milk's usual taste are drinking Fer-Mil-Lac today and getting the great good that only rich milk can impart.

Children, once listless and thin, are more energetic and normal in weight. They should all take a glass after school and at bed time.

Old people, nervous and irritable, have become calm and good natured because of the nourishment in Fer-Mil-Lac.

Well people are kept well and bettered generally.

Housewives and mothers are refreshed when "worn out"—not so tired at night—better able to laugh and enjoy the home circle.

The whole family should have Fer-Mil-Lac at each meal, for never was drink so delicious and good for you.

It should be in every ice box in the city.

Try a glass of Fer-Mil-Lac at any soda fountain, cafe, buffet, hotel, club or lunch room. See how you like it, then order family-size bottles and keep in the ice box—ready at all times.

"This Spaghetti Makes Fine Dishes"

Don't think of Faust Brand Spaghetti as a "one-dish" food—good, of course, but apt to become monotonous because of sameness.

There is no food capable of so many culinary variations as

FAUST BRAND SPAGHETTI

Meats, fish, vegetables—things which every housewife buys daily combine so well with "Faust" Spaghetti that you can make it the basis of a week's living and not repeat a dish from Monday morning to Saturday night.

Specially good to make to-day's "left-overs" acceptable to-morrow. All grocers have Faust Brand Spaghetti. 5 and 10 cents the package.

Put this fine recipe to the test and see how good Faust Brand Spaghetti is.

Faust Spaghetti With Bacon

Boil ½ package Faust Spaghetti in boiling salted water for 5 minutes; drain and cool. Bring 1 cup full of "stock" to boiling point; add the Spaghetti and cook till tender but not pulpy. Slice ¼ lb. bacon thin, cut into small dice and fry a moment in a frying pan. Add the cooked Spaghetti and 1 heaping tablespoonful of butter, season with salt, pepper and a little grated nutmeg. Stir carefully over fire for another 10 minutes. When it has a nice brown color turn out on hot dish and serve.

The Central Vermont, owning 295 miles and operating 536, is controlled by the Grand Trunk through ownership of a majority of its capital stock.

By Associated Press.

MONTREAL, July 20.—With its more important passenger schedules fairly well maintained, the pressing problem confronting the Grand Trunk Railway today lies in the continued and apparently complete paralysis of its freight traffic. This condition the striking conductors and trainmen declare to have been precisely their object when, to the number of 5000 or more, they left their various positions on the company's system from Portland, Me., to Detroit, and in New England, Monday night.

Carloads of perishable freight are standing on sidings far and near, and unless it is possible to begin to move them soon the property loss will be large. Food supply and crop transportation are vitally involved, it is stated.

A generally expressed opinion at many points on the Grand Trunk is that the strikers will be able to continue the freight train hold-up two or three days longer at least.

Conductors and yardmen in the employ of the Wabash on the tracks that road leases from the Grand Trunk between Niagara Falls, Ontario, and Windsor, Ontario, opposite Detroit have gone out, and as a result the Wabash is having considerable trouble in moving its passenger trains over that division. No attempt is being made to touch the freight.

STRIKE-BREAKERS ARE URGED NOT TO TAKE RAILROAD JOBS

BOSTON, July 20.—Strike-breakers from all parts of the country continued to pour into New England today to take the places of the conductors and trainmen on the Grand Trunk and Central Vermont railroads, now out on a strike for higher wages.

The strikers are using their best efforts to dissuade the newcomers from accepting the proffered positions. In several instances they have been successful.

In St. Albans, Vt., the headquarters of the Central Vermont system and at other Vermont points, the strike-breakers are being flooded with telegrams from all parts of the country uring them to stand by their brothers and the strikers believe they are winning the day.

Last night a lot of strike-breakers who had been working hard all day went on a strike themselves. They had been on duty continuously for 16 hours and when the time arrived for them to take the last train from Burlington, Vt., to Essex Junction to connect with the express for Boston, they refused to go out.

An official of the Central Vermont road has announced that any of the striking employes may have their old positions back at an increased salary if they make applications at once. The Grand Trunk, however, is taking a different stand on this matter, according to the statement of Trainmaster J. J. Connelly of the Portland and Montreal divison, who stated authoritatively that none of the strikers would be taken back in their former status. If they come back at all, he said, they must come as new men.

Hibernians' Annual Picnic Sunday.
Division No. 2, A. O. H., will give a picnic Sunday at Normandy Park. The Arrangement Committee consists of Edward Finnegan, chairman; William J. Regan, John Taffe, Thomas Sullivan, Dennis Friel, Thomas M. Jenkins, William J. Flynn, John Cochran, Ignatius Young and Michael Brennan. The athletic events will be in charge of Myles McDonough, chairman. Irish jigs and reel dancing will be a special feature.

MOORE'S ADVICE TO ROOSEVELT.

George Moore, the Irish novelist, is evidently ignorant regarding the personality of our ex-President. In an interview in the Sunday Post-Dispatch, Mr. Moore says:

"If your Mr. Roosevelt, in choosing to make a mountebank of himself, would only tell in his atrocious articles of the last women he was in love with, instead of dwelling so drearily on his last circus performance, he would be worth reading, even though he can't write."

In advising Mr. Roosevelt to take the reading public into his confidence so far as to tell them "of the last women he was in love with," Novelist Moore shows that he has failed to read the current record of Mr. Roosevelt's views upon women. Theodore Roosevelt was sworn in as President of the United States on Sept. 14, 1901, and very soon thereafter began lecturing the women of this country on their shirking the duties of motherhood. While passing through Europe he took occasion to lecture the German students and the citizens of Paris on the dangers of the decline of the birth rate. We are not informed as to whether he said anything to the black audiences at his African campfires on the subject; but his utterances in America and Europe prove that he has no romantic illusions about women such as fill the mind of Novelist Moore. There is nothing poetic lurking in the Rooseveltian mind in regard to the fair sex. Matrimony's shackles and burdens, which Moore despises, Roosevelt exalts.

Moore has the women of Rossetti in mind continually; while Roosevelt's ideal appears to be the type of woman immortalized in Zola's "Fecondite."

The worst thing the stand-patters can find to say of the insurgents is: "They used to be with us."

BRYAN'S END.

For 16 years the Nebraska Democrats were faithful to Wm. J. Bryan, despite paramount issues which drove the majority of the country's voters, including many Democrats, to support his opponents. And now on the paramount issue of prohibition the Nebraska Democrats desert him. On local option, Mr. Bryan's latest paramount pet, only his own county stood by him.

Mr. Bryan has led Democrats far along undemocratic paths. It is gratifying to find that the limit of his disastrous leadership has been passed. Even his home guard could not stand prohibition. He will have to go into the ranks of the intolerants for followers. He has reached the end.

Perhaps Aldrich felt that after getting that rubber schedule into the tariff it was better to retire and enjoy the profits of his labor.

"FREEDOM OF CONSCIENCE."

When the Post-Dispatch published the full text of the oath to which King George V professes an "invincible aversion," it defined the meaning of "the Protestant succession."

We are fortunate that most intelligent people now think that this oath and all others of its class are nonsense. But it was no longer ago than 1710, in the Sacheverell case, that the point in the oath was the most important point in the politics of the "civilized world." It was no longer ago than 1679 that David Lewis, Roman Catholic Bishop of Llandaff, was hanged and cut in quarters in England for preaching without taking an oath of the same kind. And for like reasons Cramner, Ridley and Latimer were burned at the stake as Protestant "heretics." As late as 1778, when the English Parliament removed from Catholics certain disabilities, there were riots.

In both Protestant and Catholic countries the history of this bigotry reeks with blood. We are fortunate now in finding facts which are far from being the worst, too atrocious to believe at all. This feeling measures the meaning of "religious liberty" and "freedom of conscience," which never existed in the world until it was established in the United States.

We do not fear reaction. We feel entirely safe, but it is in easy memory that when orders of "kill and burn" were reported from Samar it was preached in the United States to palliate massacre, that the "cross would follow the flag." Intelligence and reason are life-saving. King George V seems to have both. He may have need of them, as may the people of the United States, if the advance of civilization is to be maintained

Kansas has sometimes been right and sometimes interesting, but she is now trying to be both.

PRELIMINARY WORK

There is so much to be done by Democrats before the presidential election that quarreling over presidential candidacies and indorsements is foolish. The election of a Democratic majority in the House of Representatives, the first necessary step to the capture of the Government by the Democracy, will require all the energy and ability of the party. The victory is not to be gained without a fight. Desperate efforts are making to bring the Republican factions together, either by whipping in the insurgents or by compromises.

To poll the Democratic vote alone for Democratic candidates will not win the House. The party must have the men and the policies which will attract insurgent Republican votes and independent votes of all sorts. It must have strong representative men in sympathy with popular demands and a sound, reasonable program. Neither vagaries which would frighten the business elements nor radical extremes which would drive away Republican insurgents can be adopted. The free trade advocated by Folk and Kern would not draw Republican insurgents who are reform protectionists. The country will not be carried by hot air, flubdub and rainbow-chasing.

Gov. Harmon, who has been recommended for the presidency by the Ohio Democratic State convention and whose chances probably will be the best if the State goes Democratic, will be relegated to the rear should he lose the State. The loss of Ohio would be a heavy blow to Harmon and the Democracy.

Although Gov. Marshall has more than two years to serve, the result of this year's elections in Indiana will have a potent influence on the fortunes of the Governor and the party.

New York may be placed in the Democratic column ready for the presidential fight if wisdom rules the counsels of the New York Democracy and all the party's energies are concentrated on the State fight. Surely there never was a greater opportunity for a victorious reform campaign, which would go far to win the presidential campaign.

In Missouri the Democratic opportunity is in grave danger of being sacrificed to personal ambitions. The Folk and anti-Folk factions are squabbling over a presidential indorsement. The congressional and State campaigns are to be sacrificed for the senatorial contest. It is conceded by the friends of former Gov. Francis that he would be defeated for the senatorial nomin tion if the vote were cast now, but it is asserted that he will create an organization which will pull him through in November. His friends control the city organization, but at a sacrifice of Democratic chances in the city. Under the present direction of the committee and with the purposes of those who control it, no St. Louis Democrat is so optimistic as to expect success. Nothing but Republican dissensions will give the Democracy a chance in St. Louis.

The same influences are seeking control of the State Democratic organization. Already there is a call for an organization of Democratic business men who are to supplement over the State the work of the committees of business men in this city. Business men should be active in politics as citizens, but why should they band together as business men to control the action of the Democratic party? What purpose can it have except the protection of business that wants protection from just laws and the election of men who will protect such business?

When the Democratic party of Missouri is organized, officered, managed and financed by bankers, brokers and the owners and managers of public service corporations in the interest of business, it will be ready for the political junkshop. The retaking of the Democratic party by the interests will destroy the Democratic opportunity in the State and nullify its influence in the National organization. It will clinch Republican supremacy.

Japan says she is going to civilize Korea, but that is just what Russia intended to do.

CARUSO'S "TEMPERAMENT."

In the revelations Signor Caruso is now making of his disappointments in love and trial matrimony, he is putting on public display the "temperament" great artists are supposed to have as one of the most important qualities of their genius.

In Signor Caruso's case, if not in all others, temperament of this kind has nothing supernatural about it. Almost any child which has been worshiped by a fond mother as a greatest genius ever born is likely to show the artistic temperament in a high degree. A developing genius of 5 years may lie down on the floor and kick every time he (or she) is denied anything whatever.

As a spoiled child of public favor, Signor Caruso is too old for the remedy which cures temperament at 5 years. Solomon, who was a genius, and also a genius with entirely too much temperament, found out what it cost not to have the remedy applied before the child was spoiled. Signor Caruso will probably be 80 years old, if he lives so long, before he grows up, and even then he may be badly spoiled enough to show what he needed before it was too late.

Anyhow, somebody has made Taft take to deep water.

CANNON MAKES A HIT.

"When you do your applauding," said Mr. Cannon to some insurgent Republicans who interrupted his address at Emporia, "you should stand up and show yourself to your neighbor, so that he may know whether or not you are Democrats. Don't hide your identity. Stand up and show your faces."

In hurling that advice with vehement gestures in the faces of his foes, Mr. Cannon was doubtless animated by a desire to abash them into silence rather than to counsel them into ways of wisdom. Yet the advice was good; no better utterance of statesmanship has been made in this campaign. Taft and Hughes and Roosevelt may halt and hesitate at the parting of the ways; they may stammer what they choose about harmony and compromise and party regularity. The issue has been drawn by the Aldrich tariff. "Are you for it, or are you a Democrat?"

Not since 1896 have the people of the United States divided squarely and honestly on a living issue. Partisanship has taken the place of statesmanship; regularity has been more important than principle; and as a consequence plutocracy has worked its will in legislation. It has placed itself in antagonism to the intelligence and the patriotism as well as the interests of the people, and has met popular condemnation with ostentatious defiance.

Thus the issue is formed. The Republican machine, the Republican administration, the Republican press and, to a large extent, the whole Republican organization is controlled by Plutocracy. Insurgency may annoy what Beveridge called "the powers of pillage," but it cannot crush them. Only the force of a united opposition can do that.

Why should political organizations go to the expense of hiring halls and employing speakers, when it looks as if the Chautauquas are willing to do it all and pay for the privilege?

Considering the political condition of Iowa, Illinois, Ohio and Kansas, there ought to be some consideration of Missouri as a summer resort for stand-patters and fellows on the fence.

It is to be hoped none of the Kansas statesmen left Washington in the expectation of finding their home counties cooler than the Capital.

The report that the milk sold in Chicago has been found to be dirty reflects heavily on the water supply.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE.

Forest Park Eagles.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

I was out to Forest Park the other day and there I saw something that touched my heart to the core—something that is a shame to the city and also civilization. There are two large golden eagles cooped up in a filthy little cage about 4 feet square, not room enough to spread their wings and exposed to the glare of the midday sun. As many trees as there are in the park, there is not one within their reach or even a branch. The poor things must perch on a stick 24 hours every day. There are also several owls in another canary sized compartment of the same cage. The eagles look as though they were about to go to the happy hunting grounds and no doubt will be glad to leave the prison of living death. Could they talk they would be heard to exclaim, "give us liberty or give us death." Something should be done for these poor tortured creatures. Liberate them, or give them a dose of chloroform. W. HOLLIS.

To Improve Street Car Service.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

A subway built through the city to the West End would not remedy the present street car situation to any great extent. Moreover, a subway cannot be constructed in a day, nor in a year.

The reason the cars are now so crowded during the rush hours is that while in the past ten years the city has grown very greatly, the population having increased over 100,000, no new lines have been added to the system. In fact the Chouteau and Spalding lines have both been done away with. Now then, the thing to do is to add six or more new lines to the system. Corandelet could support another line as well as could Tower Grove Heights and Greenwood which, by the way, has none at present. And two or three lines run into the West End and North St. Louis would change conditions in those parts considerably.

The track system downtown is inadequate and would be more so were a half dozen new lines to run over it. However, this could be altered. As Locust street has only one line on it now, the tracks could be extended both east and west and several other lines could make use of them. At Sixth and Olive streets there are five lines operated over a single track causing the cars to be blockaded for two blocks from Pine to Locust streets when a switch has to be turned. This congestion could be relieved by doubling the tracks on Sixth, Seventh, Eighth and Ninth streets. These changes could all be accomplished in a shorter while and with less expenditure than a subway could be constructed.

COMON SENSE.

How Electricity May Destroy Balloons.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

As there seems to be considerable doubt and speculation as to what was the underlying cause of the Erbsloeh disaster. I should like to offer a theory of mine, which at least is susceptible of investigation and proof.

Bearing in mind that the gases of the balloon are usually enclosed in an air-tight and water-tight envelope and that this envelope electrically insulates the interior contents from the exterior, we have then contained within the receiver an electro-positive element (because the gases contain hydrogen). Now suppose, through the changes in temperature on rising, moisture is condensed on the exterior of the envelope, we then have a perfect Leyden jar. If the balloon should rise rapidly enough we have the necessary friction to set up statical electricity—in the case of the dirigible the propulsion of the engines gives the friction through the air. Having then an electric charge at very high tension, it is very easy to see that as soon as the tension is sufficient it will pierce the envelope, create the spark and fire the gas.

In support of this theory I wish to recall that one of the Zepplin ships mysteriously took fire, the cause was never explained. Further, several balloons have been reported "struck by lightning," apparently out of a clear sky. A balloon of itself, or rather an object high in the sky without any direct connection with the earth, according to accepted ideas, ought to be free of danger of lightning, especially from a clear sky—and the explanation must be that the balloon generates a high tension statical charge on the Leyden jar principle.

To obviate this contingency, it would seem, as a solution, that metal buttons be incorporated in the fabric at several points, thus connecting electrically the interior and exterior of the envelope, and as soon as any induction is set up it will be immediately dissipated, without a spark and before any high tension is developed.

ALECK TRICK.

Unanswerable.

From the Success Magazine.

At the dedication of a new fire engine in a little town on the Massachusetts coast, the following toast was proposed: "May she be like the dear old maids of our village; always ready but never called for."

Why She Joined.

From the Buffalo Express.

"Say, dad, why did mother join the Browning club? She isn't interested in poetry, is she?"

"Nope, but the club meets on Fridays, and she hasn't anything else to do on Fridays."

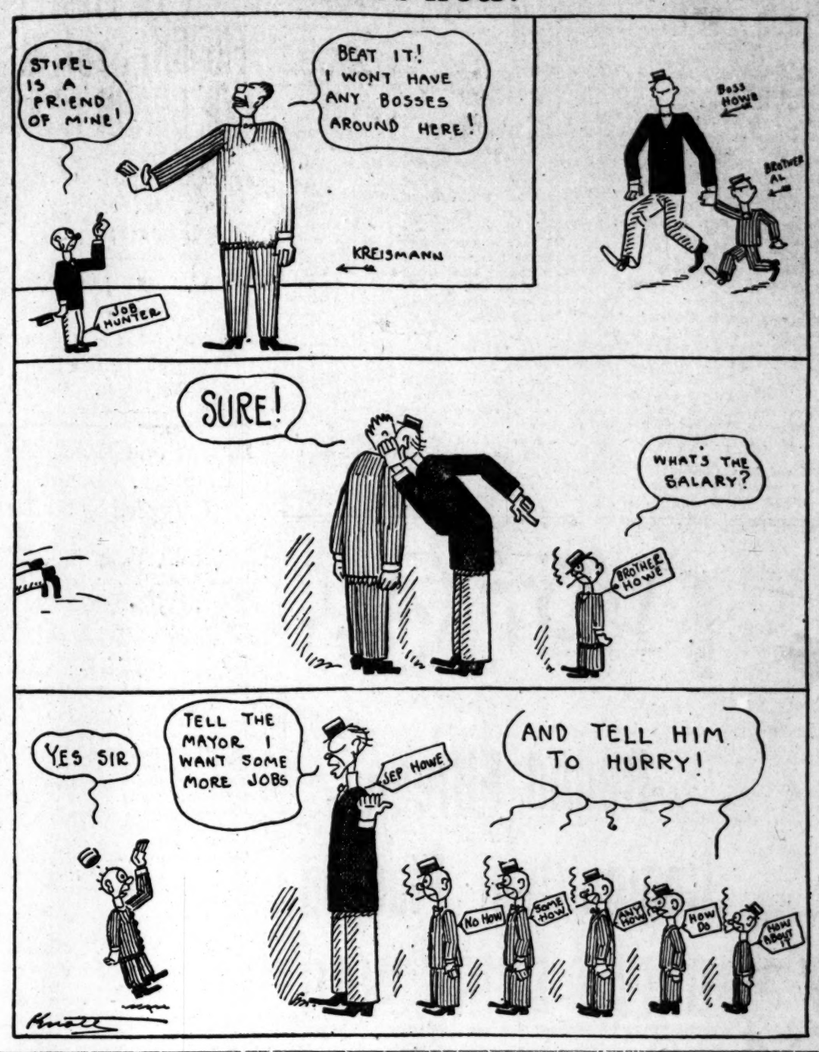

Futile.

From the Philadelphia Ledger.

"Fly with me," pleaded the youth.

"What's the use?" answered the girl. "Dad's biplane would catch that old machine of yours before we had got a thousand feet high."

HERE'S HOW!

THREE NOTABLE MEN DEAD.

From the New York World.

Three aged men who had accomplished something in different spheres of activity have just died. Curiously enough, one passed away on the Atlantic seaboard, another midway across the country and the third on the Pacific Coast.

Aloys Wirsching, who invented the stock-quotation telegraph ticker and 41 years ago installed the fire-alarm system that is still in use in this city, died in Brooklyn Thursday night, aged 78.

Zephaniah B. Knight, who was said to have first suggested that the now dominant party be named Republican at the Michigan State convention in 1854, died Friday in Omaha, aged 89. He boasted that he voted the straight ticket at every election and never scratched the name of a G. O. P. candidate, as fine an instance of "standing pat" as could be found anywhere.

E. H. Dyer, known as the "father of the beet sugar industry" because in 1870 he established the first plant for the manufacture of sugar from beets that was built in the United States, died Friday at Alvarado, Cal., aged 88.

COST OF ELECTRICITY.

From the Baltimore Sun.

Although the electric light company maintains that 10 cents per kilowatt hour is a reasonable charge for power to its patrons, the power plant of Bernheimer Brothers' department store is making electric current for a trifle over 1¼ cents per kilowatt hour. Mr. Isadore I. Wolf, a member of the firm, in speaking of the plant, said:

"The people of Baltimore should know that we manufacture our own electricity at a cost ten times cheaper than the company sells it, also that our service is absolutely dependable. We have our own plant, and it is not such an elaborate plant either, but it suits our requirements exactly. I believe that if some of the merchants and manufacturers now using electric current at 10 cents could see how much they could save by establishing their own plants there would be fewer people in Baltimore using 10-cent electricity.

"The electric company could sell its current at 5 cents and still make a handsome profit. I know that if we can make it at a cent and a quarter the electric company can make it at less than a cent, because they make so much more and their operations cover such a large field."

HARMON AND GARFIELD.

From the Washington Herald.

"Mr. Garfield is a very good young man," said Charles I. Williams of Toledo, O., who is at the Arlington, "but he has no more chance of being elected Governor of Ohio than I have. Mr. Garfield is in the enthusiasm of youth; and then he has had some taste of power, which he cannot and will not get rid of. He wants to get back into the public eye. One way to do that is to go around and make political speeches, and Mr. Garfield has decided to follow this line. But to speak of him and Gov. Harmon in the same breath would be absurd. Gov. Harmon is popular in Ohio with men of all parties, and has given the people an excellent and efficient administration. I am a Republican, but I shall work for Harmon, and I know hundreds of other Republicans who feel the same way about it."

To the Stranger Within Your Gates.

From Life.

In New England: What do you know?
In New York: How much y' got?
In the South: Who are you?
In the West: What can you do?

JUST A MINUTE.

Written for the Post-Dispatch by Clark McAdams.

IN UNCLE JOSEPH'S WISDOM.

(Speaker Cannon has just wound up a series of speeches in the insurgent wheat belt of Kansas.—News.)

I.

IN Uncle Joseph's wisdom the fields were turned to gold,
And all the granaries were stuffed as full as they would hold—
The tall bins and the small bins, as Fortune often does,
When Uncle Joseph happened out to tell them how it was.

II.

The harvest hand was toiling, and the flails were going round,
The singing of the sickles made a very pleasant sound—
A sing-song and a swing-song that rose above the din,
And the season was auspicious when our Uncle happened in.

III.

The land was full of plenty, and the farmer's heart was glad;
He couldn't think of anything that made him very mad—
The west man and the blest man with all his wealth of grain—
The time was rather opportune for Uncle to explain.

IV.

"The truth about the tariff is!" our Uncle tried to scream,
But they simply couldn't catch it for the roadster popping steam—
The whizz sound and the sizz sound when things are piping hot,
And what it was had made it mad the West had plumb forgot.

V.

In Uncle Joseph's wisdom there may be many flaws,
And now and then a blunder which may gain him no applause—
But mad-cap and bad-cap at times, for all of that,
His head is something more than just a hang-out for his hat.

MODERN DIALOGUE.

"You advertised for a cook?"
"Yes."
"I want to apply for the place."
"Very well."
"What does it pay?"
"Twenty dollars."
"Washing?"
"No."
"Thursdays out?"
"Yes."
"Both 'phones?"
"Yes."
"Family?"
"Three."
"I think maybe I'll take it. Let's see your references."

IT HAPPENS.

"How did your husband enjoy his vacation?"
"He is very much alarmed about it."
"How is that?"
"Why, he has come home with an appetite in excess of his income."

"Why don't the tramps have a union?"
"I imagine it is because they would all want to be walking delegate."

ONE.

Tourist (sitting in a New Mexican poker game): Is there, perhaps, a good book on poker?

Native (taking a cautious look at his hand): One.

Tourist: What is it?

Native: The history of New Mexico.

Jogging His Memory.

From the Fliegende Blaetter.

Absent-minded professor (to one of his colleagues): Excuse me a minute, but can you tell me the date of the Peloponnesian war?

Colleague: 431 B. C.

A. P.: Oh, yes; so it is. Thank you so much. It is also our doctor's telephone number, and I had to ring him up.

"Say, Borroughs," remarked the busy merchant, "apparently you believe that time is money."

"Is that sarcasm?" inquired Borroughs, who realized that his visit had been rather prolonged.

"Well, I was just thinking that you're using somebody else's time."—Catholic Standard and Times.

INTERREGNUM.

I.

WHEN Homer wrote his blooming rhyme
He never made the great mistake
Of laying off in summertime,
But smote right on without a break—
For he had heard by bog and fen
The songs of many another bard
Getting into his stride again,
And Homer knew that it was hard.

II.

BESIDE the Thracian shore he oft
With hearing them at such a time
Would tarry to direct a soft
Anathema upon their rhyme,
But in the end could only smile,
As genius, ever patient, does,
And deftly smote his lyre the while,
Quite understanding how it was.

CONSTANT.—We do not advise as to what lawyers should be consulted. Given the facts, a lawyer should be able to tell you as to what should be done by a wife whose husband has made her life miserable.

HEALTH.—If a physician supposes a case to be malaria, and it later develops into one of scarlet fever, which he promptly reports, he would not be held responsible by the Health Department for the delay caused by his mistake.

D. W. S.—Dropsy is not a specific disease, but a symptom of another disease; the treatment always depends upon the original disease. In many cases dropsical swellings can be cured with proper treatment. Consult a physician.

MARY M.—St. Louis has 24 Episcopal churches. Locations are shown on page 103 of the 1910 city directory. Member of an Episcopal sisterhood could withdraw from the order and marry without affecting her standing as a member of the church.

A. B. C.—To waterproof canvas: Dissolve one part of pure beeswax in two parts gasoline, and paint quickly. The gasoline will evaporate, leaving the wax in the fibers. This must all be done in the open air, and away from a flame or light or fire of any kind.

A HEARTBROKEN GIRL.—Forget the husband who says he never thinks of you any more. And don't think about yourself. Keep yourself occupied with something else. The baby will probably keep you busy. In this great world there are thousands of things of more importance than a foolish husband.

ANXIOUS.—Dick Tyler and Frank Garfinkle were sentenced in Chicago in connection with the St. Louis end of the White Slave traffic. The police here do not know the length of the sentence, but think it was an indeterminate sentence, which is from 1 to 14 years in the penitentiary. The police have no recollection of anyone by the name of Mike Hart being connected with the trade.

R. W. G.—Applicants for license to practice embalming have first to embalm 10 dead human bodies. Several years are necessary to get a knowledge of embalming. There is no definite time, and much depends upon the learner. A good deal of time may be required. There are embalming schools. Embalmers are paid according to their skill—$50 to $125. Phone undertakers.

SHIBLEY.—The Rubicon was the river separating Caesar's Gallic province from Italy, and by crossing which under arms he committed himself to a war with the party of Pompey, then in control of the Roman Government; hence, we "cross the Rubicon" when we do anything committing us irrevocably to some course or undertaking.

A.—Somebody says: Rub this lotion into the scalp daily and it will restore the color to prematurely gray hair: Tincture of acetate of iron, one ounce; water, one pint; glycerine, half ounce; sulphuret of potassium, five grains. When making this leave the bottle uncorked to let the disagreeable odor from the potassium pass off. Afterward perfume with a few drops of oil of lavender and oil of cloves.

C. P.—Sleeplessness is usually the result of poor circulation, indigestion or mental distress. The person who studies himself carefully will be able to locate the difficulty and treat himself accordingly. For poor circulation try warm baths, warm-water bottles, brisk rubbing, soaking the feet and deep breathing. For indigestion take a warm drink before retiring or when sleepless. Drink warm water, warm milk, weak tea or cocoa and breathe deeply. For mental distress mere will power is the best. Close the eyes and as fast as the thoughts come drive them out. Carry on in the mind a house-cleaning process. If the events of the day have been trying, read a short light story before retiring. Leave the window down at the top and protect the body from drafts. SCOFFING at love is like whistling in the dark—because you are afraid.

According to a man's idea, "lying" is telling an untruth to anybody on earth, except his wife; that's just "policy."

Platonic friendship is an imaginary line between the introduction and the first kiss.

From the injured air with which most husbands settle the grocery bill and pay the rent you would fancy that home was a charitable institution in which they never ate or slept.

Matrimony is a turnstile, around which husband and wife follow each other continually without ever meeting on the same side of anything, from an argument to an ideal.

A woman can always lead a man in the way he should go until some other woman comes along and beckons him the other way.

When a man feels that he has made a mistake he usually asks his wife's advice about it, so that he can have someone to blame for the results.

Oh, well, after all, for married people, dying merely means going from the frying pan into the fire.

In order to attain success in the world a man must have a good name and the proper ability, but a woman merely needs a good dressmaker and the proper curling iron.

Mystery in a woman ALWAYS awakens the desire for mastery in a man.

Advice on Affairs of the Heart,

By BETTY VINCENT.

THIS is going to be a little lecture to the mothers of the girls who write to me for advice. You know, after all, a girl of eighteen or nineteen is not very much to blame if she does make mistakes. My dear mothers, what do you think an all-wise Providence made you for, if it was not to watch over and guard your children?

When the baby is just learning to totter about the floor you would not let it put its little hand in the fire, would you? And when your growing daughter is just learning to walk out into the big, busy world, with steps that are none too sure, are you going to let her walk straight into dangers that to her only look pretty, just as the fire did to the baby? I suppose you will answer:

"Yes, but a girl of eighteen is not a baby."

To be sure, you are right in some ways. That is, she has learned to talk and walk and she knows a fire in a grate will burn her if she puts her hand in it. But there are dangers that scar, just as does the fire in the grate, and it is your place, you mothers, to warn her from them.

A YOUNG man who signs his letter "H. V. G." writes:

"I admire a girl very much and she is going away for the summer. Do you think I might give her a bunch of flowers before she goes, and when shall I give them to her?"

I am sure the young lady would appreciate the flowers very much, and I should send them, were I you, on the day of her leaving.

A GIRL who signs her letter "F. K." writes:

"Do you think it proper for a young lady to tell her mother everything the men she knows say to her?"

Let me answer your question a little indirectly. You should not allow the men you know to say anything to you that you could not repeat to your mother.

"PASSERS BY"

A Gripping New Novel of Mystery and Adventure :: Vividly Written

By Anthony Partridge
Author of "The Kingdom of Earth."

SYNOPSIS OF PRECEDING CHAPTERS.

Gilbert Hannaway finds Christine, a mysterious singing girl, and Ambrose, a man with a barrow organ and a monkey, begging on London's streets. He questions the girl too closely and is struck down unconscious by Ambrose. Recovering later, he telephones the Marquis of Ellingham of his discovery of the two. Ambrose Drake visits the Marquis, for whom the girl is searching, and strangely induces him to flee from London. The girl disappears. She is with Gilbert Hannaway, who recalls the extraordinary facts of their first meeting in the criminal quarter of Paris, when she aided a mysterious man to escape from the police. Visiting the Marquis of Ellingham, Hannaway tells him of Christine's search for a criminal who should be in prison in the place of a certain Vicomte de Vaudilly. Ellingham learns that M. Leblun, a famous French detective is in England to track down the plotters. The detective confronts Lord Ellingham. Later Ellingham is lured to a cab. He finds himself face to face with Marcel, who makes a claim on him for money. Marcel is arrested. Leblun, the detective, reaches the conclusion that Lord Ellingham is a criminal. Hannaway receives a mysterious telephone message, commanding him to be in a certain cafe at a certain time.

CHAPTER XXXVIII.

"THERE is but one friend in life for a man, one friend only," Ambrose declared, his eyes fixed covetously upon the glass he held out before him. "Women are faithful sometimes, but money comes and goes, this remains."

He sipped at his tumbler with the air of one deliberately testing the quality of its contents. Then he set it down and looked steadily at Hannaway, who sat by his side.

"You," he said, "have not learned yet to appreciate the joy of numbed senses, of artificial life. Why should you?" he added, half dreamily. "You are young and straight, handsome, I suppose. The woman you love will be faithful to you—for a time, at least. Men do not look strangely at you in the streets. You are a reasonable part of the great wheel of life. The hidden joys are not for you. You mean something."

Hannaway shrugged his shoulders. "Why did you send for me?" he asked curiously.

Ambrose was silent. He was still wearing the blue serge clothes, the correct collar and tie, with which he had started the morning, but the clothes were splashed with mud, the tie was disarranged, the collar crumpled. His eyes were bloodshot, his face was patchy. Hannaway had the idea that he had been sitting there for many hours.

"Why did I send for you?" Ambrose muttered. "Why, because there are times when I must talk to somebody, even if it be only Chicot, or one of those louts who hang about the bar. I must talk to some one or I shall go mad. Tonight," he continued, passing his hand across his forehead, "there is a band here. I feel it pressing, pressing all the time. Sometimes there is a singing in my ears, then a quiet. I can hear the wind blowing in the poplar trees, and I can feel the music of the organ growing again beneath my fingers. I can hear her step as she came up the aisle, a truant child, dark eyed, eyes bright with daring, but softened a little with the joy of the music. She was gay in those days, gay indeed."

Hannaway passed his cigar case across the little table, but the hunchback shook his head.

"No!" he said. "If I smoke, I cannot drink so long, and smoking does nothing for me. Did you know her mother?" he asked abruptly.

"I saw her once or twice," Hannaway answered.

Ambrose shook his head. "She went wrong," he said. "She was at heart an evil woman. That poor Englishman over there was after all but a tool in their hands, her brother Marcel's and hers. They made him marry her. He was desperate, and he did not care what he did. They thought he was an Englishman and rich. But they were wrong. He, too, was a pauper in those days."

"They were bad days for him," Hannaway said thoughtfully. "You know I suppose, what is going to happen?"

A fire flashed in Ambrose's eyes. "I know," he answered, "and I am glad. He has taken her away from me. He must pay the price. Leblun is waiting and watching. Leblun knows. Soon he will strike. Oh, I am glad! She will be sorry soon that she did not trust me. I would have saved him, I would have saved him somehow."

"Not even you could have done that," Hannaway answered. "Besides Leblun, there is Marcel, in prison, to be brought before the magistrates tomorrow and sent back to France."

The dwarf laughed. "You do not read your newspapers," he said. "Marcel was arrested last night, but it was a corpse that they dragged into the cells. He took poison as they led him into the office at Scotland Yard. He lived for an hour or so, but he never opened his lips."

Hannaway stared at the other, incredulous, amazed. Ambrose reached out his hand and caught hold of an evening paper.

"Read for yourself," he said. "It is all there. They kept it dark until this morning. It was in all the 12 o'clock editions."

Hannaway read with a little thrill. It was as Ambrose had said.

"What else was there for him to do?" Ambrose continued. "He had many years of his sentence still to serve, and he had murdered Pierre. There was no escape for him. He was a man of evil temper, and he was half mad with the desire for money, crazed with it. Four million francs were missing," he went on, "four million francs, gathered together by that little band of thieves, waiting to be divided. Marcel had hidden the money. He risked everything in coming here to search for it. And when he came it was gone. Some one cleverer than he had been before him. You look at me, Gilbert Hannaway. You look at me as though you would ask a question. Bah! What does it matter? For four years that four million francs has been in a bank in France, accumulating slowly and, surely for her. It was in her name. I never meant to touch it. I never should have touched it. But she left me. Then nothing mattered. I determined at last to make it the means to win her back. As you know, I failed. Where is she now? Do you know that?"

Hannaway nodded. "I think she is with her stepfather," he said.

"She went there willingly?"

"Of course," Hannaway answered. "After all, he has been very good to her. He was penniless himself when he fled, but as soon as the money came he set lawyers to try to find her."

"He was not over-anxious," Ambrose muttered. "There was a time I know of when he fled from England to escape from her."

"It was from the past he wanted to escape, not from her," Hannaway answered. "Which her came you, and perhaps others, who would have recognized him. I am sorry for him. He has made a splendid reformation, only to be hunted down by that brute Leblun."

Drake raised his glass and drank slowly, with closed eyes. "Men must live and die," he said, setting his empty tumbler down. "We are but cattle, after all. The Marquis of Ellingham will spend tonight or tomorrow night in a prison cell, perhaps. What does it matter? He and half a dozen more may find it terrible enough. For the rest, it will be but a thrilling little episode in their morning paper. We must learn to regard these things as others do. They are trifles."

"It is no trifle to Christine," Hannaway said. "She feels somehow that it is her own fault. Certainly, it is through her that they have tracked him down."

"What does she care for him?" Ambrose muttered. "She has little enough of heart. In a month she will have forgotten."

Hannaway shook his head. "Christine has changed," he said. "I thought her heartless myself. I do not think so now. I believe she would give everything she possesses to save him."

Ambrose called to the waiter. "More drinks," he said. "More brandy. I have fresh food for thought here. I must drink with it. Brandy and hot water. The bottle! Good!"

He helped himself with steady fingers. Once more the fierce content stole into his face. "After all," he muttered, "we beat about the bars of our lives. What am I, a poor broken-limbed creature, the sport of boys in the street, the object of shuddering pity to passers-by? Who am I, to look for life as you others, to crave for happiness? Even in the days when I was satisfied and content because she was near and because she depended upon me, even then underneath it all there was the black cloud. She was not happy. She was miserable all the time, dissatisfied, discontented, hating her coarse clothes, hating her simple food. Sometimes I realized it. Sometimes I could have cursed whatever power gave me a body like this and a brain to realize what I was losing in life."

He drew Chicot from his pocket. Chicot sat up and blinked, looking inquiringly at his master, who called for biscuits.

"Chicot, little one," he said, as he fed him, "here at least art faithful, and it is because I feed thee. See him," he added, turning suddenly to Hannaway. "His eyes are bright with gratitude. He looks at me without a shudder. I am his master. Mine is the hand that beats or feeds him. It is something to have a living creature of any sort dependent upon one. It is something."

"Soon," he said, "it will be closing time. You had better come away now. Where are you staying? I will take you home if you like."

"I shall not move from here," Ambrose answered gruffly, "until I am pushed out. Where I go afterward is no concern of any one save myself. But I assure you that I shall not leave here until I must. As for you, go when you please. I had a fancy to talk with you, and you came. I am grateful, but I have no more to say to you. I think I would rather be alone."

Hannaway put his hand in his pocket, but Ambrose, with a laugh, threw upon the table a handful of sovereigns. "Money!" he said. "Do you want money? I have played for ha'pence myself, but all the time I knew that if I cared to raise my hand I could bring gold down from the clouds. But what is the use of it? Tell me, man," he shouted, striking the table, "will it buy a woman's love for a creature such as I am? No! You know it will not. Don't hesitate to say so. Nor will it buy Chicot's love. Money! What is it worth?"

"I should advise you," Hannaway said, "to put that back in your pocket. This is not the most reputable neighborhood in the world, and a man with gold like that might easily be robbed or worse."

Ambrose laughed. "No harm," he said, "comes to those who are reckless. Death or a bed! If both were there I scarcely know which I would choose. If you want money help yourself. If not, leave me to pay my bill, and go."

Hannaway rose to his feet. "There is one thing," he said, "which I had it in my mind to say when I came. Perhaps I should be truthful, and say that it was the reason I accepted your invitation. If Leblun should call upon you to help him, if you should be summoned as a witness against Lord Ellingham, remember that after all he is Christine's guardian, that he has been kind to her, and that his sufferings are hers."

Ambrose's eyes seemed to narrow and brighten at the same time, till they shone like points of fire. "I know," he answered impatiently. "I know."

CHAPTER XXXIX.

JACQUES LEBLUN rose early on the following morning, and made a careful toilet. There was no evidence in his hard, withered face of any special gratification, yet so far as he was capable of feeling emotion he felt it as he donned his carefully brushed clothes and tied a newly purchased tie. Today was to witness the close of a career which he had every right to consider memorable. Today, with this final and dramatic triumph, he was to make his exit from the profession which he had adorned and create a gap in the ranks of his order which he was complacently sure would never be filled. With the love of secrecy innate in the man, he had kept his triumph to himself, kept it even from the authorities on the other side. He wished to startle everybody with a coup, a little theatrical, perhaps, but so brilliant that for days he saw himself almost a popular hero. Who else could have drawn together these threads till he held them all securely in his hands? No one else knew what he knew. He had worked alone and secretly. Marcel had died before he had had time to give away his secret. There was no one else left who could solve the mystery which still hung around the personality of that man who had escaped from the house in the Place Noire one November night. He himself was about to solve it. It was a wonderful day, this.

He descended to the barber shop, was shaved, and after critically examining his hair decided to have it cut. He sent for his hat and had it ironed while he waited. Then, as he was in the act of issuing from the hotel, a hansom drew up, and a small familiar figure descended from it. It was Ambrose who stood hat in hand upon the pavement.

"Monsieur Leblun," he said, "can I have a moment's conversation with you?"

The great detective hesitated. He guessed very well why this man was seeking him out. He had of course brought him information, wholly superfluous information, for which he would probably require payment. Yet, after all, he was a necessary witness in the prosecution. His good will was worth securing. Then again, it was very seldom indeed that Leblun refused to listen to anything which anybody might have to say. He responded, therefore, with courtesy to Ambrose's request.

"I can spare a few minutes," he said. "I was just going out. Perhaps we could drive a little way together?"

Ambrose shook his head. "My voice," he said, "is not strong. I cannot talk in all this roar. If you will give me five minutes in your room I think I can promise that you will find my information worth while."

Leblun turned back to the elevator and rang the bell. Together they mounted to the eighth story. Leblun drew his key from his pocket, unlocked the door, and they entered the little suite of rooms. Ambrose nodded as he looked around.

"Very charming!" he remarked. "Very nice rooms, Monsieur Leblun."

"I find them convenient," Leblun answered, his eyes fixed upon his companion. "Will you sit down? Or perhaps what you have to say will scarcely take long enough to render it worth while?"

"I come," Ambrose said, "from the house of the Marquis of Ellingham."

Leblun bowed. "Indeed!" he said.

"They were kind enough," he continued, "to receive me. I was shown into the breakfast room. Lord Ellingham sat there dictating letters to his secretary. His wife was by his side. She was holding his hand when I went in. Mademoiselle Christine—you may remember her, perhaps—she, too, was in the room."

"Most interesting!" Leblun murmured.

"They were kind to me," Ambrose continued, "but it was not difficult for one who notices things, like yourself, Monsieur Leblun, or, in a smaller way, myself—it was not difficult, I say, to realize that they were living in the shadow of some fear. The marchioness—a very beautiful woman that—was pale, and there were rings under her eys. She looked always at her husband, as though she feared to lose him. Lord Ellingham himself seemed like a man whose thoughts are in another world. Christine, my dear campanion Christine, was crying."

"All this," Leblun remarked politely, "interests me exceedingly. A little family group, suffering, perhaps, from fear of some impending trouble. Still, I scarcely see—you will excuse me, I know—but I scarcely see why the recital of it has procured for me the pleasure of this visit?"

"The fear of impending trouble," Ambrose repeated. "That is good. The fear is there, and the trouble is there. Monsieur Leblun, they sit there and they listen for your footsteps. They listen for your ring. They listen for a servant to throw open the door and announce, 'Monsieur Leblun!'"

The detective nodded gravely. "It was in my mind," he admitted cautiously, "to pay a vicit to the household you mention."

Ambrose nodded. "Five years ago," he said, "that man Ellingham was a criminal, not a vicious one ever, yet certainly a criminal. Retribution comes to him a little late."

The detective bowed. All the time he was watching his companion. He was not sure what this visit might portend.

"I am one of those," Ambrose continued, "who may be called lookers-on at this game of life. I have no part or share in it. Kicks and buffets of fortune I have known, hunger and thirst I have known, the joys which come to other men pass me by. Therefore, Monsieur Leblun, I have never known what it is to have a heart. I am like you. I can watch suffering without flinching. I can see other men in agony, and it either amuses or bores me, according to my humor. You, too, Monsieur Leblun, are like that."

"Perhaps," Leblun assented, a little impatiently. But I presume that it was not to discuss my characteristics that you paid me this visit?"

"Not in the least," Ambrose answered. "There was a little proposition I wished to make. It may sound ridiculous to you. I trust that when it is made you will not think too scornfully of me. But, indeed, there were days, before I was as you see me now, when the girl Christine was a child in short frocks—there were days, I say, which I have not altogether forgotten when she was in a tense a part of my life. I will not weary you with details. I will only say that when her mother was last awake in Paris into becoming the associate of gamblers and thieves, when Christine escaped from that house for fear of unutterable things, it was to me she came. For years we crept about the world together. Somehow or other a slight weakness seems to have developed itself in my nature. If I could I would do her a kindness.

"This morning," Ambrose continued, "she threw herself on her knees before me, she even raised her lips to mine. We were alone for a moment. She had come into the hall with me, and she had drawn me into another room. Do you know what it was that she begged of me, Monsieur Leblun?"

Cheer Up

Written for the Post-Dispatch

WADE, wallow and rejoice in the sunshine—and forget the sun's heat!

The big fight proved again the antique maxim that "Youth must be served." But we don't have to fight to be happy!

"Low laughing water and murmuring tree"—think that soothing line over just when you're about to get mad!

The "old pitcher that goes to the well once too often" gets broken. But the well still is there!

No regular man who has himself been smack-dab up against it ever laughs or sneers at the other fellow's failings.

Don't let yourself be "mocked by hosts of the sheeted ghosts of things you have long desired," because when you stop desiring you stop living!

Apologize, if need be; but don't mourn over the thing you apologize for. "Yesterday" was a good old hawss, but "Today" brings home the bacon!

Let's all make up our minds to get arrested on our one hundredth birthday for fighting with a cop!

"The days that are no more" is a lilting line. But "the days that are to be" lilts enough for us!

The New Thought idea, boiled down, is this: "I AM AND I WILL!"

What to Wear

IN the muslin underwear sales going on at present a noticeable feature is the better grade of materials being used in the popular priced garment. There is also an improvement in the finish and a larger display in styles than formerly, making it possible for the woman with moderate means to gratify her desire for dainty lingerie, which heretofore was a source of discontent to the refined woman with a limited purse.

All the shops have made a general reduction in parasols. One lot at $1.50 is particularly attractive. It includes the favorite green as well as the pongees with the colored border that are now so popular. Many of these parasols have the chantecler handles that are still in vogue.

A well-made white linene skirt in a pretty plaited model for young girls is certainly an exceptional value at 49 cents.

During these warm days, when one's feet get so tired, the Turkish slippers are a positive comfort. It is surprising what very good ones can be obtained for 39 cents. They go well with the Tarry robes. The assortment is large both in sizes and dainty colorings.

Sunbonnets for the little missy are 25 cents in gingham, and in pretty pink or blue chambray they are 35 cents.

A pretty German silver belt pin has three chains suspended from it to which the trinkets that are now a fad can readily be attached. It is 49 cents.

Silver cuff buttons in either the bright or dull finish are perfectly plain for monogram purposes and sell at 35 cents.

The V neck vogue has created a call for chemisettes. A real nice one can be had as low as 25 cents.

Your Freckles
Summer Sun Brings Out Ugly Spots
Easy Way to Remove Them.

The woman with tender skin dreads the July sun because it is sure to cover her face with ugly freckles. No matter how thick her veil, the burning sun will surely make her freckle.

Fortunately for her peace of mind, the recent discovery of a new drug, othine—double strength—makes it possible for those even most susceptible to freckles to keep the skin clear and white. No matter how stubborn a case of freckles you have, the double strength othine will remove them.

How Miss Kraatz Cured Her Freckles.

516 Broadway St.
Martin's Ferry, Ohio, Sept. 16, '09.
I can hardly express in words of praise the satisfaction that I received during the use of your wonderful remedy, othine—double strength—for freckles.
Will be glad to recommend it to all my friends. Yours sincerely,
MISS CLARA KRAATZ.

Need Attention Now or Face Will Stay Freckled All Summer.

Now is the time to take special care of the complexion if you wish it to look well the rest of the year. The sun brings out freckles that will stay all Summer unless removed now with othine—double strength.

This prescription for the cure of freckles is the discovery of an eminent skin specialist, and is so uniformly successful that it is sold by Wolff & Wilson Drug Co., under guarantee to refund the money if it fails. Get an ounce of othine—double strength—and even the first night's application will show a wonderful improvement, some of the smaller freckles even vanishing entirely.

Society Woman Cured.
496 Spring St.
Buffalo, N. Y., July 5, 1910.
I wrote you some time ago relative to your othine treatment. I want to say I bought a jar of the cream. It has taken all the freckles and moth patches from my face. My friends are asking me every day what I have done to improve my complexion, so I must say I am very much pleased.
I remain, yours truly,
MISS E. M. SHOUHART.

Don't Be "Freckle-Face."

Do you know how easy it is to remove those ugly spots so that no one will call you freckle face.

Simply get an ounce of othine—double strength—from Wolff-Wilson Drug Co., and one night's treatment will show you how easy it is to rid yourself of freckles and get a beautiful complexion. Be sure to ask for the double strength othine, as this is sold under guarantee of money back if it fails to remove the freckles.

Gave Beautiful Pink Complexion.

Fillmore, Utah, May 30, 1910.
I am certainly delighted to tell you my freckles are gone. My skin is white and a very delicate pink. I used the cream as directed, and in a few days could almost see the freckles going away. I have a little of the jar left. My friends admire my complexion and have asked me what I have been doing with it, and I was very much pleased to tell them what I was doing.
I remain as ever, yours truly,
HAZEL HATTON.

Money Back If Not Cured.

Now is the time to rid yourself of freckles, for if not removed now they will stay all Summer, and spoil an otherwise beautiful complexion. Money back if othine fails.

ACCUSES HAMMERSTEIN'S SON AT HIS BANKRUPTCY HEARING

Opposing Lawyer Declares He Is Either a Bigamist or a Perjurer.

PHILADELPHIA, July 20.—In the bankruptcy proceedings against Harry Hammerstein, son of the impresario, it was declared by Frederick Drake, a lawyer, that Mrs. Augusta Hammerstein of 2441 Walton avenue, New York, had never been divorced from Hammerstein and that he was either a bigamist or perjurer when he testified that Mrs. Elinor E. Hammerstein, with whom he has been living at Wayne, Pa., is his wife.

All this came out in the testimony deduced by Attorney Drake, representing the creditors. Harry Hammerstein protested and his counsel tried to make the point of the irrevalency of such testimony in a bankruptcy proceeding. But Drake persisted that it shed light on the veracity of Hammerstein as a witness.

It developed that the present Mrs. Hammerstein was the widow of Charles Fonda, a laundryman of Port Jervis, N. Y. At a previous hearing this woman testified that certain furniture in the house at Wayne was purchased with her own money—a part of $10,000 left her by her former husband's will. She protested against its seizure to satisfy the bankruptcy claims. It was in attacking her claims that Attorney Drake dug up what he called the "Hammerstein family skeleton."

Mrs. Minnie D. Weiss, an investigator of the School of Social Economy, says that she has found that 90 per cent of the babies that have been fed on the milk that is supplied by the Post-Dispatch Pure Milk and Free Ice Fund, are strong and healthy and promise to live and grow to be useful men and women.

"I have found," says Mrs. Weiss, "that there is good reason why the other ten per cent. do not prosper. Either the babies have been deprived of the milk through negligence or some unforseen and unfortunate circumstance at a critical time, or else they were started on it entirely too late.

Recently I came upon a case that I reported to the Fund nurse, which illustrates the point. The mother was in despair. I saw that the only trouble with her child was that it was not getting the proper food and I told her to take it to one of the stations.

Baby Bound to Die.

"'It will not do any good anyhow,' this mother told me. 'The baby,' she said, 'is bound to die.'

"I argued with her and finally induced her to go to one of the stations and get the milk. She has done so. Whether the baby will recover is a question. I think it already looks a little better than it did. If the baby dies it will be put down as a pure milk baby. That may not seem altogether fair, but it is the only thing we can do.

"The mothers of the babies in the poorer districts appreciate the Pure Milk Fund. Wherever I go in the congested districts to investigate a case I am soon surrounded by a group of women with babies in their arms who tell me what a blessing the milk has been to them, and how strong and fat it has made their infants.

"The need for the milk is greater among the poor than most persons are inclined to think. The sorrow which want of it has caused in some families makes me shudder to recall.

Loses Nine Babies.

"I know of one strong mother who should be the parent of a record family of 11 children, but she has only two living. The nine others died in infancy. One's death was caused by bronchitis, but all the others died for want of pure milk.

"The two children that lived are like their mother, big and strong pictures of what the others might have been if they had had pure milk.

"Anyone who has had much to do with babies of the poor can tell after a glance whether the baby is getting pure milk. The baby that is getting cheap and improper food may be fat, but look close at it and you will see all the signs. Its ears are pale, and there is no color in its lips or under its nails.

"Ice is a very needy thing for mothers of babies these days. Wherever I find a mother who cannot buy ice for the baby's milk I report her at once to one of the Pure Milk Fund stations and thereafter the ice never misses delivery. Many mothers who try to buy the milk themselves simply cannot get the money for the ice.

Good Work Being Done.

The results of the investigation which Mrs. Weiss is making of the conditions of babies in the congested districts throw much credit on the work of the fund.

Nine out of every ten babies that at any time have been on the pure milk, she says, live and grow strong. These figures tell a powerful story when it is remembered that the normal death rate of babies in St. Louis is one out of every four. There is a vast difference between one in four and one in ten.

Children who are giving benefit shows and conducting lemonade sales for the Pure Milk Fund may have printed cards to display by applying at the office of the Post-Dispatch.

"Inclosed please find check for $1.05, one dollar and five cents, to help the babies. This money is left from club dues. We made scrap books and pleasure bags for the children of Martha Parsons Hospital as Christmas gifts.

Hoping that this small amount will help, I remain,

BLANCHE M. BLOCH.

Other officers of the club are Mabel Michael, treasurer, and Corinne Hoffmeister, secretary.

From Moberly Mo., the Fund editor received the following note:

"Mrs. Robinson's Sunday school class of the Coates Street Presbyterian Church of this city, wishes to add a few dollars to the milk fund for the little babies of St. Louis. We ask if you will please see that the four dollars enclosed (in form of money order) will be used for the above stated purpose. We read about the needs of the babies in the Post Dispatch. Respectfully,

CLARA BELLE BASSETT,
820 Myra street, Maplewood."

Many out-of-town subscribers of the Post-Dispatch appreciate the need of the babies in the congested city tenements and they are generously contributing to the fund.

Drinking Water

Most rural dwellings depend for their drinking water upon "the old well." A wealth of romance has been weaved around the well in both song and story, but modern medical science has shown that, nine times out of ten, "the old well" is a breeding place for countless typhoid germs and other virulent bacilli.

The cause for this is readily understood by the fact that the sewage from the outhouses and waste matter from the kitchen permeate their way through the ground to the well.

The same is true, and in a larger way, with the streams from which the villages, towns and cities draw their supplies, and it behooves every one to be careful with his drinking water, especially at this time of the year, when so much is used.

To keep the system in such good condition that these germs will be unable to obtain a foothold, take Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey which as a tonic stimulant and body builder is one of the greatest strength givers known to science. It aids in removing disease, and by its building and healing properties assists in restoring tissues in a gradual, healthy, natural manner. As a nerve tonic it has no equal. It cures dyspepsia and biliousness, aids digestion, brings restful sleep, stimulates the blood, invigorates the brain and assists in freeing the entire system from the dread germs of malaria and low fevers.

It is sold IN SEALED BOTTLES ONLY by druggists, grocers and dealers everywhere or direct, $1.00 per large bottle. The Duffy Malt Whiskey Co., Rochester, N. Y.

FORD PITCHES GREAT GAME WHILE BROWNS SUPPORT POWELL POORLY—RESULT IS A NEAR SHUT-OUT FOR O'CONNOR'S MEN ROBISON THINKS HE HAS FOUND TWO GOOD YOUNG PITCHERS, BUT WILL DO NO GLOATING UNTIL THEY HAVE MADE GOOD GOSSIP

BUYING TALENT LIKE LOTTERY, SAYS ROBISON

Cardinals' Owner Claims You're Lucky If a Youngster Makes Good, Regardless of His Purchase Price

PRESIDENT M. STANLEY ROBISON, seasoned by many baseball storms, refuses to become enthusiastic over any promising young player that is signed up for his club. The Cardinals' owner has seen so many phenoms, that were highly touted before entering the big league, collapse completely after a short trial, that he prefers to gloat only after he sees the youngster make good.

President Robison has just returned with Manager Bresnahan from a brief scouting trip. While away they signed up two pitchers—Southpaw Zmich of the Marion (Ohio State League) club and Right-hander Hennis of the Terre Haute (Central League) club.

Although both youngsters come highly recommended and appear to have excellent chances of prospering in the big league, Owner Robison will not permit the praise of others about his new talent to get the better of him.

"This signing up of young players is all a lottery," said Owner Robison to the Post-Dispatch. "It doesn't appear to make any difference what price is paid for the players. If they make good, you're lucky. If they don't, you're not.

"We seem to have lined up a couple of good young pitchers. But whether they make good is another question. That's something only that time will tell.

"The price of a ballplayer nowadays doesn't spell his failure or success. Take 'Rube' Marquard of the New York club, for instance. The Giants are said to have paid $11,000 to the Indianapolis club for his release. That's a big price for a minor league ballplayer, but he hasn't been a howling success. Then Mr. Hedges has just signed a pitcher, Ray, who didn't cost him nearly what Marquard brought. But Ray has got off to a good start and from all indications is going to make a great pitcher.

"So simply because a ball club pays a big price for a minor league player doesn't mean that he's going to set the big League on fire."

President Robison gave some interesting sidelights on the bidding for Pitcher Zmich of the Marion club. The youngster was touted to Mr. Robison about three weeks ago. Last week he wired the Marion club owner to have Zmich pitch on a certain day. About a week ago Sunday was set for the day. Two days before that it was reported that the Browns had purchased Zmich's release.

Reading this, Mr. Robison wired if the report was correct. Told that it wasn't, he and Bresnahan journeyed to Lancaster, where the Marion club played. In the stand were also Owner Hedges of the Browns and representatives of other big league clubs.

Before the game the Marion club owner said that bids would be accepted after the game. He promised that none would be made public. All made offers for Zmich. At the station, just before leaving, Messrs. Robison and Bresnahan were informed that their bid was the highest. Mr. Robison refused to name the purchase price, but it is said to have been a pretty lofty figure for a player coming from the Ohio State League.

Bresnahan didn't see Hennis of the Terre Haute club work in a game. However, he worked out with the youngster for awhile and liked his work. Although a late report from Terre Haute Tuesday stated that Owner Smith had not sold Hennis to the Cardinals, Mr. Robison said he had Smith's signature, binding the deal. As the Terre Haute club is shy pitching talent, Hennis isn't expected for a week.

LANGFORD TO FOLLOW JOHNSON AROUND WORLD TO OBTAIN A BATTLE

NEW YORK, July 20.—Joseph Woodman, Sam Langford's manager, has arrived here from California with the announcement that he is prepared to post a side bet of $10,000 in behalf of Langford the moment Jack Johnson displays a willingness to sign articles of agreement.

"I'll admit that Johnson is a great pugilist," said Woodman, "but Langford, though 40 pounds lighter, can beat him. If Johnson goes to England, France or Australia, I will follow him with Langford, to force him to fight."

SAN FRANCISCO, July 20.—The friends of Jeffries in this city are much perturbed over reports that have been received for several days from Burbank in regard to the queer actions of the big man whom Johnson defeated so decisively at Reno. All those who have seen Jeffries since he returned say he is a changed man. He seems to have aged 10 years and to have lost the full command of his faculties.

He has never talked much, but he liked to joke with his friends and play tricks on them. Now he sits for hours, humped over like an old man, never talking and never laughing, but gazing away to the far distance as though in a dream. When he talks he frequently rambles like a feeble-minded, old man.

Another correspondent who used to go to school with Jeffries, complains that the big fellow had forgotten his name when he wanted to introduce him to another friend.

Some still cling to the belief that Jeffries was "doped" at Reno, and that he has not yet recovered; but most people think that his present condition is simply the result of the shock of defeat.

SPORTING WRITERS TO SHOW "UMPS" HOW TO UMPIRE

Perhaps the most enthusiastic game of the year will be played in Cincinnati some time in September. The sporting writers on the Cincinnati newspapers have formally placed before Manager Griffith a request that they be permitted to conduct the team one afternoon, and Griffith has said that if President Lynch will allow them to umpire they can have sole charge. Only he is to write the game for one of the local newspapers which has been roasting him pretty consistently for the past three weeks. He and the other Cincinnati man who works on the coaching lines, plus the two regular "umps," have been given the freedom of the sporting pages for that day. The game will be conducted by W. A. Phelan and Myron Townsend from the umpiring standpoint and the Cincinnati coaching lines will be presided over by Jack Ryder and Frank D. Rostock.

TOM M'CAREY PLANS TO HOLD 10-ROUND BOUTS IN VERNON

LOS ANGELES, July 20.—Vernon, the unique village, which is almost surrounded by Los Angeles, will in all probability be the scene of boxing contests, such as the Council here proposes to place the ban on.

Vernon, while frequently appealed to, has always opposed becoming a part of the city and its affairs are in the hands of a board of trustees. It is here that 45-round contests have been staged, and now while the anti-boxing spirit appears to be moving ahead, the Vernonites are observing it with some degree of satisfaction. It is fairly certain that the town will welcome contests as conducted under the State law.

Tom McCarey owns the fight arena there and is planning to conduct 10-round contests such as have for years been given at the Naud Junction pavilion.

OWNER WILSON PAYS A BIG SUM FOR YEARLING RACERS

NEW YORK, July 20.—R. T. Wilson Jr. seems to have no fear for the future of the turf. While many men these days are singing the swan song of racing, the wealthy young banker is busily engaged preparing his string of racers for next year. His faith in the continuance of the sport was made evident yesterday, when it was announced that he had purchased 20 yearlings from John E. Madden.

Just how much the president of the Saratoga Racing Association paid for the youngsters was not made public by either Wilson or Madden, but men who are in close touch with the turfmen, said $25,000 was the price. This sum, under the present uncertain condition of turf affairs, is very large to lay out in race horses.

Benecke Gets Nice Average.

The Humphreys won the odd game from the Grand-Arsenals in the Grand-Arsenal Summer League Tuesday night. J. Beneke and Hartman of the winners, with 186 1-3 and 180 2-3 averages, respectively, were the best pin-spillers.

WRAY'S COLUMN

EVIDENTLY one "Diamond" Jack O'Connor, of the Browns, deserves his nickname in at least its baseball sense. That O'Connor has done something for the men he handles McAleer was unable to accomplish is evidenced in a trifling enough incident, which happened in the New York game, Tuesday. The Browns were beaten hopelessly in any case; but it shows the men are alive to their chances where they were once content to reach a base and remain there contented, like a snug bug in a rug.

Ford was invincible but George Stone had worked him for a pass. George took a good lead, says the report of the play, and was easily at second when Laporte ran in for Hartzell's sacrifice. Laporte lobbed over for an easy out and then Stone woke up. Instead of stopping at second, he kept right on for third and stunned the infield for a moment. Then Chase hastily threw the ball across the diamond and in the excitement Stone came into the base and Roach, who had run over to cover the vacant bag, let the ball get through him. Stone then dusted for home and scored the only run of the game.

Now that run might have been a winning one, though it made no difference in the present instance. But the same course, if persisted in, is going to win more than one tight game.

The Browns are showing plenty of signs that they are far from being dead ones.

Youth Not Always Served.

IT'S not the age that makes the champion. The percentage is, of course in favor of youth; but the human frame frequently surprises those who go by the rule that youth must be served ahead of middle age. There's old "Ruby" Robert Fitzsimmons, who was champion until nearly 41 years of age, when James J. Jeffries' hard head smashed the freckled one's mauleys, and of course Robert had to give in.

There's old Fred Plaisted, who is God knows how many cycles older than Fitz, and who can clear on a manifest giving his age at 60, still able to take his turn in a single-scull match race. Then there's Vignaux, who was one of the greatest players in the billiard world far after he passed the 60 age limit. And there's "Forty-Hole" Fairbanks of Denver, who, although Father Time has whitened his poll, still plays in every golf tournament of more than local consequence which takes place in the West and who is entered for the Western championship which opens on the Minikahda links next Monday. And now comes old Cy Young, the daddy of all baseball men, who, although he'll never again see 40 (with about three more years added), pitched his five-hundredth victory in big league company Tuesday. Old Cy has worked in something like 800 big league games, which gives him a percentage of about .625 for his big league record—which is some pitching.

No, a man's only as old as the cells that make up his tissues. If he draws on them too heavily early in life, he pays his debt to nature sooner. There seems no reason why all baseball players, allowing for variations in natural strength and endurance, should not last as long as the Wagners, Wallaces and Cy Youngs of the game.

Jack Johnson may have brought home the bacon, but it looks as though policemen and lawyers were going to cut it up.

We're the Motor Boat Kids.

ALTHOUGH few St. Louisans are familiar with the fact, this city is leading in one branch of sport—inland motor boating. St. Louis has turned out the fastest tricks in the way of speeders ever built for inland waters. Probably the swiftest boat the world ever new, of its dimensions, outside hydroplanes and freak boats, is the little 20-foot M. V. II, the hull of which was designed by Walter Beauvais of this city. The M. V. II showed enough at Peoria to cause all the experts to wig-wag to one another. One good authorit said the little mosquito is good enough to give even the 40-footers a tussle, when the free-for-all is run at Peoria, in August. The M. V. II is being groomed for race with the Comet, which formerly was the M. V. I, itself a champion until sold by its St. Louis owners. The M. V. II will run away from its senior type, Owner Sinning thinks. This little boat will pass the 30-mile notch, which, in the Mississippi, is moving some.

St. Louis has had champions in other classes. The Independence II, owned by Ed Koenig, is about the fastest boat ever put on the river in any class. It was taken out of commission because its engine was too heavy for the hull. The Meteor is the best half-cabin boat in the West.

Times made by our inland boats compare very favorably with those made by the Dixie and other champions, notwithstanding the ocean boats have the advantage of better waters.

It's pleasant to realize that there's one sport in which the city can at least make an impression, after seeing all other local champions walloped about in the mud.

THE usual scant representation of golfers will go from St. Louis to Minikahda Club for the Western golf championships. None of those entered, save Harry Allen and Carl Prepho ranks at all with the leading tournaments golfers of the city. Probably the experience of last year has frightened out the real stars of the city.

In 1909 four St. Louis Country Club players finished third in the Olympic club—which is doing well enough. But the individuals did not get very far along with all the Chicago stars in action again against them. Nevertheless, it is precisely these defeats by better men that our tournament forces need. Nothing of advantage can be gained by beating inferiors over and over again.

It costs money to attend championships; but clubs with players who have a chance to get into the semi-finals ought to defray expenses of their representatives to such contests. Even Kansas City is sending more men to the Western tourney than St. Louis.

FIVE ST. LOUIS GOLFERS ENTER W. G. A. TOURNEY

Carl Piepho of Triple A., Seems to Have Best Chance.

The entry list as made public up to date for the Western amateur golf championship, starting next Monday, July 25, at the Minikahda Club, Minneapolis, does not show the full number of players who will represent St. Louis in that event. Five golfers, Harry Allen, Carl Piepho, Dr. George F. Paine, Ed Limberg and T. B. Boyd, are all that will represent this city in the event which is without doubt the most important in the Western golf world, and only the first two of these entries can be said to be from the top-notchers in this vicinity.

Piepho is going at a great clip now and if he can keep up his present game he ought very easily to qualify in the two rounds of medal play which take place on Monday and Tuesday On Monday there will be 18 holes of medal play, 64 players to qualify, and on Tuesday 18 holes medal play, the 32 players having the best scores for the 36 holes shall qualify for the championship.

Harry Allen, who was runner-up two years ago at Rock Island, has not had a great deal of chance to play this season, as the combination of business and attending to the affairs of the new Bellerive Club have kept him on the jump. But it does not take him long to get on his game and a good showing can also be expected from him. Dr. Paine is one of the best that the Normandie Club produces, but he will have such a high-class field to go against that it will be an entirely different proposition from playing with his clubmates out there.

Most of the local men who are recognized as the best tournament players will not be able to enter, on account of various reasons, chief among which is prosaic business.

GOTHAM PLANS REVIVAL OF BIG HARNESS MEETING

NEW YORK, July 20.—All signs point to a great revival in harness racing, so far as New York City is concerned, this season. The meeting scheduled for the Empire City track is expected to give the sport a new lease of life around New York. The races will be held there next month, and some sterling horses will perform.

Now new life has been infused in the sport by the formation of the Trotting Horse Breeders' Club. This is composed chiefly of wealthy local patrons of trotting and a few big breeders in other states. Among the latter is Joseph Weldon Bailey, United States Senator for Texas.

The Yonkers meeting probably will last for six days, though the entire program has not yet been made up. Five events, worth $2500 each, have already closed, with good support, and one of them, called Speedway Stake, is for 2:16 trotters, to be driven to wagon by amateurs. It will be worth $3000.

The New York meeting is admitted to be largely experimental so far as any profit is concerned, and a reserve fund of some $10,000 has been raised already in case it fails to pay expenses. One of the extra attractions, it is announced, will be the first of the futurities given by the American Association of Trotting Horse Breeders.

The Matron Stake will be raced for at the Empire City Park meeting, and is estimated to be worth about $15,000.

Senior to Teach Life-Savers.

Arthur Senior, swimming instructor of the Central Y. M. C. A., says he will begin a class in instruction in life-saving and water polo playing at the Y. M. C. A. tank, Grand and Franklin avenues, next Monday night. Senior also announces that several Y. M. C. A. paddlers will enter the 10-mile river swim Labor day.

St. Louis Golf Team to Challenge Chicago Men

Picked Players of Windy City Invited to Compete Here Against Mound City's Best Stars.

Spurred on by the recent challenge sent out from Chicago by four of it's premier golfers, the amateur players of this city are attempting to arrange an inter-city team match with six or possibly eight of the Windy City's first flighters.

The meet is being arranged through the agency of Kenneth Carpenter, the new and shining light on the Algonquin links, who came to this city several months ago from Chicago after having had several years of golf training at Evanston.

David Patrick, professional at Algonquin, and Chris Kenney, of the same club, are helping Mr. Carpenter at this end of deal by studying the conditions here and trying to decide which of the local golfers could most likely hold their own against the squad from Chicago.

Carpenter says that the Chicago team will be picked from among the following well known amateurs, with some of whom he is personally acquainted: Mason Phelps, Warren Wood, "Chic" Evans, Ned Sawyer, Paul Hunter, Albert Seckel, Kenneth Edwards, Chandler Egan and National champion Robert Gardner.

Replies Are Favorable.

So far Carpenter has only had time to correspond with a few of these men but the answers received make the chances for an early meeting very bright. The match is to be played in St. Louis and the local team will undoubtedly be picked from among the following players, arranging their numbers on the team according the showing they have made in the last year or two and the present condition of their game: Chris Kenney, A. Stickney, S. Stickney, Harry Potter, Ralph McKittrick, Jesse Carleton, Carl Piepho, Kenneth Carpenter, A. S. Martin, Ike Lincoln and a few others.

A match between two teams picked from among these men would undoubtedly permit the local admirers of the game to witness some of the finest amateur golf playing that could be seen in this country. Mr. Carpenter says that if there were only some open tournament scheduled in St. Louis this summer or fall there would be no trouble at all in arranging the match then, as the Chicago players would come down to that event. For it is by this almost constant tournament play that they keep their game up to its present level.

Kenney Helping Out.

Mr. Carpenter hesitated to approach the local men on account of his so recent advent among their ranks, but he found when he spoke to Chris Kenney and Patrick on the subject they were very enthusiastic and have promised to do everything that they can to see that the match will be a success and that the team which represents St. Louis will be the very best that can be picked among the local stars. Carpenter thinks from what he has seen of the local players that they could without doubt pick a team that could hold their own against the best from Chicago.

BUTTE, Mont., July 20.—Louis Long of Spokane last night knocked out "Kid" Forbes in the fourth round.

Vic Willis Allows Only 5 Hits; Quakers Draw Row of Ciphers

VICTOR WILLIS, the elongated right-hander, was in excellent form and by holding the Quakers of Philadelphia to five scattered hits, the Cardinals made it two successive victories over the visitors, by a 2 to 0 tally, Tuesday. George McQuillen, another right-hander, was the Philadelphia pitcher.

As was the case Monday, when the Cardinals saved Frank Corridon, the locals put up another swell fielding article. Willis wasn't in any real serious trouble, but when men got on bases he tightened and was assisted in fine fashion by his helpers.

Arnold Hauser especially, distinguished himself by making a couple of sensational stops and throws in the early innings. The youngster appears to be gaining more confidence in himself each day and seems sure to become a star of the first magnitude.

Off McQuillen, the Cardinals obtained nine hits. He kept these well scattered, and with perfect support the Cardinals would have tallied only one run. McQuillen, too, would have blanked the Cardinals had he not hit Evans in the sixth.

At the very beginning of the Cardinals' half, Assistant Umpire Brennan pulled off one of the grandest pieces of grand larceny this season. Huggins put down a beauty bunt and had Grant's throw to Bransfield beaten clearly. Brennan surprised Huggins and every player and fan in the yard by calling the "Rabbit" out. The play wasn't even close.

Ellis followed with a single off Grant's shins. The "Rube" pilfered second and kept going toward third on Doolin's high throw. A perfect peg by Bates to Grant killed Ellis sliding into third.

It wasn't until the fifth that the Cardinals tallied. Then Hauser opened with a Texas Leaguer in right center, and Willis laid down a bunt. Grant recovered and fired to Walsh, trying for Hauser at second. Arnold beat the throw, but Walsh heaved to Bransfield, getting Willis.

As third was left uncovered, Hauser hiked for that station. Grant backed up and Bransfield pegged, but the throw was wide, and Hauser chased home on "Kitty's" error.

The second run came in the sixth, when with one gone, Evans was hit for the second time in the game. Doolin attempted to pick Steve off first, but threw wild to Bransfield, and the comedian moved up to second. Bresnahan followed with a ripping double to left, and Evans scored.

A double play pulled McQuillen out of trouble in the fourth. Oakes opened with a single, but Koney rolled to Knabe, who tagged the "Rebel" on the line and then fired Bransfield, doubling Big Ed at first. Evans was then hit by a pitched ball. Doolin nipped Steve stealing, but Knabe dropped the throw. Bresnahan drew a pass and Mowrey stung the ball. Walsh, though, hooked on, and a throw to second beat Roger to that bag.

In the second inning, with two gone, Bransfield rolled one through Mowrey. Mike was unable to get his hands on the ball, but Hauser backed him up and scooped in the sphere. A long throw settled "Kitty." Again in the third, Walsh cracked Mowrey on the shins, and the ball bounded up in the air towards short. Hauser recovered, and another nice throw got the batter at first.

Bresnahan was charged with the Cardinals' two errors. One came on his high throw to second when Doolin swiped in the fifth, and the other was for a foul from McQuillen. Roger got up to the ball, but when some Philadelphia player bluffed him he dropped it.

Roger had a big day at bat. He poled out three hits, one a double, and walked another time.

Willis had the bases filled with only one gone in the third, but pulled out of the difficulty nicely. With Walsh out, Doolin and McQuillen singled, while Titus drew a walk. Then Mowrey made a spectacular catch of a foul from Knabe's bat with his back to the plate, while Bates lifted to Oakes.

At the start of the sixth inning, several Philadelphia players on the bench got too noisy to suit O'Day. He ordered all extra hands to the clubhouse. Six Quakers filed off slowly.

In the eighth, with two out, Evans singled to right and stole second. Bresnahan poled out his third hit, a single to center, and Steve started for home. Bates made a perfect throw to Doolin and the comedian was killed at the plate.

The series now stands 2-1 in favor of the Cardinals. The fourth and final game is scheduled Wednesday.

J. McGraw and New York party will be here Thursday.

Ford Unhittable, While Browns Boot Ball About

NEW YORK, July 20.

WELL, maybe we will have better luck today. Of course it wasn't hard luck that beat us, yesterday, for that Ford certainly had something on the ball that my boys had never learned. I'd feel mighty bad over their sorry exhibition with the stick if the other clubs were doing any better; but Ford looks like one of these pitchers that happens only once in a while."

Thus quoth Peach Pie Jack O'Connor this morning, and then he added pensively, "I wonder why we can never pick one up like that?"

And, truly, the Browns did not suffer from any hard luck yesterday. As a matter of fact they were rather lucky they were not shut out and that the Yankees did not pile up a higher score than they did. The Browns made enough misplays for three games.

Truesdale, as on the day before, seemed to find it impossible to field a ground ball cleanly. Almost every one that came to him was fumbled and though in most cases he recovered it in time for a put-out at first base, double plays that might have been pulled off, both in the Monday and Tuesday games, were spoiled.

Mee also landed in the error column with both feet and the Yankee base runners could steal second any time they tried it. Stephens could not throw accurately and Mee and Truesdale were unable to hold his throws even when they came within reach.

Powell, too, was responsible for one of the runs counted against him, when he stood stock still on the mound and let Laporte score in the sixth. Laporte was on third when Cree laid a bunt down in front of the plate. Stephens chased it about ten feet toward the pitcher's box, but when he got it there was no one at the plate to take a throw and Laporte easily beat him in the race there.

Newnam planted a black mark against himself in the error column in that same sixth inning. After Powell had jumped a mile in the air and grabbed Chase's hard smash on the first bound, Newnam muffed the throw. Then, when Roach bunted toward first and Newnam ran in for it, clean fielding would have caught Gardner a block from the plate, but he fumbled it and all hands were safe.

Stephens contributed his share in that same brilliant sixth inning. Cree, who had stolen second, went to third when Newnam messed up Roach's bunt, and foolishly tried to score when Sweeney smashed a hot one straight to Powell. Cree was an easy out and Sweeney, thinking it was the third out, walked toward the bench to don his catching apparatus. But Stephens held the ball arguing something out with Powell. Newnam's frenzied appeal for the ball attracted Sweeney's attention and he dashed for the base and was there before Stephens, or Powell, to whom he had handed the ball, realized what had happened.

Lost and Found

IF YOU LOSE ANYTHING—Advertise it here. It will be returned to you if an honest person finds it. Remarkable recoveries are brought about every day through this column. All druggists receive Want Ads for the Post-Dispatch at office rates.
Advertisements received after 11:40 a. m. will be inserted in later editions on "Market" page.
IF YOU FIND ANYTHING bring it to the Post-Dispatch Lost and Found Bureau, 210-212 North Broadway.

Get a claim check. Have it advertised. Reclaim it if the owner does not.
THE LAW—People who find lost articles are interested in knowing that the State Law (Sections 8475 to 8480, Revised Statutes of Missouri, 1899) is strict in requiring them to seek the owners through advertisement and otherwise, and that a failure to do so, if same can be proven, involves a severe penalty.

EUROPE IS INTERESTED IN RAILWAY LAWS, NUGENT FINDS

NEW YORK, July 20.—Daniel C. Nugent, president of the B. Nugent & Bro. dry goods house of St. Louis, whose daughter christened the Savannah liner City of St. Louis at Newport News last March, returned on the Kronprinz Wilhelm yesterday from a two months' trip to Europe. Half the passengers on the Kronprinz Wilhelm were buyers for American houses.

"General business conditions are normal," said Nugent. "Reports that I have received from home are very encouraging. The thing that has impressed me abroad is that my friends have questioned me very solicitously about conditions over here and have asked especially about railroad legislation. They have seemed very anxious to find out just what the condition of affairs is in the United States.

"I have no doubt that railroad matters will be settled all right, to the satisfaction of both the railroads and the people. On the question of basic conditions I am absolutely an optimist. Never before have the eyes of foreign financiers been so constantly fixed on America."

Missouri Pacific Club's Outing.

The Missouri Pacific Club, consisting of about 100 resident employes of the Missouri Pacific-Iron Mountain roads and 200 honorary members, will hold its annual outing at Arcadia, Mo., next Saturday. The club will be taken to and returned from Arcadia in a special train over the Iron Mountain, leaving Union Station at 12:45 o'clock p. m., and returning at 11:30 p. m.

MOTHER'S FRIEND

A LINIMENT FOR EXTERNAL USE.

Not only is Mother's Friend a safe and simple remedy, but the comfort and healthful condition its use produces makes it of inestimable value to every expectant mother. Mother's Friend relieves the pain and discomfort caused by the strain on the different ligaments, overcomes nausea by counteraction, prevents backache and numbness of limbs, soothes the inflammation of the breast glands and in every way aids in preserving the health and comfort of prospective mothers. Mother's Friend is a liniment for external massage, which by lubricating and expanding the different muscles and membranes, thoroughly prepares the system for baby's coming without danger to the mother. Mother's Friend is sold at drug stores. Write for our free book for expectant mothers.

FIREMEN FIGHT BLAZE IN CAFE NEARLY 4 HOURS

Fire which started in the basement of the Edelweiss Cafe, 116 Collinsville avenue, East St. Louis, at 2 o'clock Wednesday morning, for a time threatened the business district of the city. For nearly four hours the firemen fought the flames before getting them under control. Several explosions of gas made the work dangerous.

The basement of the building was destroyed and the main floor was badly damaged by fire, smoke and water. The loss on the building is estimated at $4500 and on the stock at $2000.

It is thought the fire was started by a lighted match falling through the iron grating in the sidewalk and igniting escaping gas in the basement.

When the firemen arrived the entire basement was afire, and on account of the repeated explosions the men were ordered not to enter, but to fight the flames from the outside.

The loss is covered by insurance.

COPPER STOCKS CLOSE STRONG IN NEW YORK

Dullness Ruled General Market at Small Declines.

NEW YORK, July 20, 12:30 p. m.—Outside of the strength displayed by the metal shares, the market was dull and the price range very narrow during the forenoon hours.

Smelting advanced 2 points over the opening, Anaconda Copper 1⅞ points and Utah Copper 2 points. Steel went up ⅜ on the movement and Amalgamated 1 point.

There was a rumor in financial circles that the Standard Oil crowd had sold their interest in Amalgamated to the Guggenheims, opening a way for a copper merger.

Leading rails advanced, Reading selling up ¾ over the opening, Union Pacific ½, C. & O. ¾ and Canadian Pacific ½.

Sales to noon, 100,800 shares.

Opening dealings were on a scale upward on the stock exchange today, though advances were only of a small character.

Opening movements in the industrial division of the market were irregular with trading generally professional at small changes.

Some of the leading bankers are quite hopeful as to the future of the security market and they do not fear any drastic action by the Interstate Commerce Commission.

DETAILED REPORT OF DAY'S TRADING ON WALL STREET

NEW YORK, July 20.—The opening stock market today was very listless and uninteresting. The handful of orders for execution caused only a sluggish and irregular price movement. A rise of a point in Anaconda was the only feature of the market.

Prices yielded in sympathy with a decline of a point in Reading, but buying orders were encountered and a recovery followed. General Electric declined 2.

The advance carried up Denver & Rio Grande, Republic Steel and American Can a point, and then showed signs of exhaustion. Reaction of a fraction followed.

The metal stocks made further gains during the noon hour, Anaconda advancing 3 points, Utah Copper and American Smelting 2, Tennessee Coal 2¾, Amalgamated Copper 1¼ and National Lead and American Car 1 each. In the group of specialties, American Beet Sugar preferred and North American were up 1½ each, and Westinghouse Electric 1. The rest of the list made partial response, but trading continued extremely dull.

A firm tone of the copper industrials, in sympathy with foreign markets, had a sustaining effect on stocks. The general market was almost idle. Illinois Central and Utah Copper rose ¾, and Canadian Pacific and Laclede Gas 1. Bonds were firmer, but still very dull.

The market closed irregular and dull. The extension of the rise in Amalgamated Copper to 2 points failed to hold the general list. Realizing caused a reaction which placed average prices a fraction below last night's level. The decline reached a point in Union Pacific. The market steadied again before the last.

INDUSTRIAL NOTES.

The Standard Oil Co. is earning over $80,000,000 a year and paying less than $40,000,000 to shareholders. The company is doing the largest business in its history. With this in view, a change in disbursements is hardly likely, according to the well-informed.

Copper dividends are much in doubt. If copper declines 1c a pound further in price, the new low level at 11¼c a pound will mark a general reduction in the dividends of the copper companies, the so-called low cost producers included.

It is understood the United States Steel Corporation will make no change in the common dividend rate this year, as its surplus available for the common will run in excess of 12 per cent, even if there is a falling off in earnings to the extent of 25 per cent in the last quarter. Earnings of over $75,000,000 for the second and third quarters are assured, as orders on the books are sufficient to keep the mills in fairly active operation during that period.

While there has been a shrinkage of something like 20 per cent in the general business of the country, the volume of orders already booked, according to the Wall Street Journal, will enable the important industrial companies to maintain current dividend rates throughout the year, even if there is no change for the better.

As to the dividend outlook in the first half of next year, everything will depend upon the course of business in the last half of this year. In the case of steel, there should be an increase in orders over the next six months, but this will depend largely upon the crops and politics.

REAL ESTATE AGENTS' REPORTS OF THEIR SALES

Lot for New Apartment House.

J. I. Epstein, representing Austin O'Toole, yesterday sold at lot, 33x135, on the south side of McPherson avenue, east of Laurel avenue, to Samuel S. Pomeroy. Mr. Pomeroy, who has just returned from Texas, will erect a $10,000 three-story apartment house of three apartments, each containing six rooms. The lot was sold at $55 per foot, an advance over what it brought at the recent Washington Heights auction sale.

Sale of Flat for $6000.

Alple & Hemmelmann Real Estate Co. reports the sale of 2708-10 Louisiana avenue. This is a well-built flat, containing five rooms on first floor and six rooms on second floor, tile baths, tile portico, furnace heat; lot 27x125 feet. Sold for Anna M. Tepe to Arthur Hertel, for $6000, who purchased for a home.

Buys South Side Corner.

The Christian Brinkop Real Estate Co. reports the sale of the southwest corner of Keokuk street and Nebraska avenue, being 50 feet front on Keokuk street by a depth of 125 feet along Nebraska avenue, with all streets made. Sold for George W. Ungerman and wife to Michael Heitzmann for $1600. Purchaser bought for investment.

North St. Louis Sales.

J. H. Gundlach & Co. reports the sale of 2145 Adelaide avenue, a single flat of 4 and 5 rooms, with furnaces and baths, with lot 25x163, for account of Frederick C. Euler to Emma J. L. Wissore, for $5300. Fisher & Co. represented the purchaser.

Also the sale of lot 30x155, north side Holly avenue, between Rosalie and Carter, for $45 per foot, to Christian Lampe, represented by Franciscus & Kunz.

Four-Family Flat Brings $4600.

The Muenchen Realty Co. yesterday sold 3332-34 Illinois avenue, a four-family flat, for Herman Ludwig to Frank Kaul, for $4600. Also, three lots, 30 feet, on Nagel avenue, and 60 feet on Blow avenue, east of Brunswick, city block 5337, for Frank Kaul to Herman Ludwig, for $900. Mr. Ludwig intends to improve lots on Blow avenue.

ALTON NOTES

Isaac Waldron, 21 years old, was stabbed in the shoulder by William O'Connell at Rock Spring Park Tuesday night. O'Connell was arrested.

Justice Barnett Nathan celebrated his seventy-eighth birthday in Alton Tuesday.

Zeph Silver, a large land owner at East Alton, has returned from a several months' stay at Elmira, Ark., where he has started a rice plantation.

John Girth, passenger agent for the Bluff Line at Alton, has resigned and is succeeded by W. A. Denent.

LITTLE JOURNEYS IN PATHS OFF THE MAIN NEWS ROAD

NEW YORK, July 20.—Kingdon Gould, wearing a black beard of wondrous design, which he stroked tenderly and with fingers that trembled and tingled with pride, sailed on the North German Lloyd liner Kronprinzessin Cecilie under sealed orders to meet his papa and mamma somewhere abroad.

"I don't know where I'm going," sighed the young heir to millions and millions, "but I'm on my way." He paused a moment to give the left streamer of his luxuriant young beard a Vandyke twist, but somehow it wouldn't Vandyke and he had to let it go bristling off on its own hook.

"Pretty tough, this growing a beard," said the young man, "but as I was saying, I don't know just where I'm going. My father cabled to me to sail on this boat and I sail. He said he'd notify me by wireless, or something, where to meet the family."

And again young Mr. Gould was forced by the brisk breeze to grapple with the recalcitrant shrubbery on his chin and force it down.

Blind Man Ready to Give Signal That He Can See.

NEW YORK, July 20.—Washington Heights is waiting earnestly to hear the sound of a great bell and cries of "Eureka! Eureka!" for these are the signals that Ex-Police Inspector Steers has agreed to make in case his religious faith and his prayer avail to restore his sight. He has been totally blind since June 9 and he is 79 years old, but he says he feels sure he will be able to see again, because all his lifetime, and particularly in the last 40 years of it, he has been a consistent Christian.

So many of the people among whom he has lived in the Washington Heights section for years have shown interest in his case that he has told them that he will throw open his window the moment his sight comes back to him and will jangle the big bell he keeps in his room, calling out meantime in the Greek to let all know that "the effectual, fervent prayer of a righteous man availeth much."

"Not Guilty," Says the Jury; "I'm Guilty," Says Prisoner.

CHICAGO, July 20.—Joseph Bisno watched the clock in Judge Barnes' courtroom for an hour and a half yesterday, imagining every minute that the jury was getting nearer and nearer a verdict in his trial on a charge of stealing $1600 worth of clothing.

And then, just as the first juror made his appearance in the doorway, Bisno leaped to his feet and told the Judge he was guilty. He was sentenced to five months in the Bridewell.

When Bisno had been led from the courtroom, the verdict was opened, just for curiosity, and it read:

"Not guilty."

But it was too late to help Bisno. Bisno's partner had turned State's evidence against him at the trial.

New Yorkers No Longer Can Sell Without Weighing Goods.

NEW YORK, July 20.—If the second-hand junk dealer, vegetable huckster, peanut vender or even the grocer, hereafter sells a "whole lot" for a lump price he will be violating the law. "Apples, 10 cents a whole lot," "Potatoes, 15 cents a whole lot," are no longer to be permissible terms of barter. There must be specific weight and measurement.

This law became effective today when Mayor Gaynor gave his approval to an ordinance abrogating the old-time method of selling goods, merchandise and commodities for general use.

And the method of selling ice—5 and 10 cent pieces—goes by the board. Ice under the new order of things must be sold by weight ascertained by scales of standard make and certified accuracy.

This follows a long crusade by the new Inspector of Weights and Measures, Clement J. Driscoll, which resulted in the public destruction of several tons of faulty weights and scales a couple of days ago. It remedies one of the greatest evils which had been tolerated in New York, cheating in weight or measure having been resorted to by almost every retail dealer in provisions, fuel and the like in the city.

COTTON MEETS SELLING AFTER OPENING HIGHER

NEW YORK, July 20.—The cotton market opened steady at unchanged prices to an advance of 3 points, as a result of covering, owing to better cables than due and prices improved another 3 points during the early trading.

The weather map showed rain at Galveston, with clear conditions quite general in the Eastern belt, and shortly after the opening there was a renewal of liquidation and bear pressure.

The bulls continued to give the near months support during the later forenoon, but following the Eastern belt forecast for generally fair weather today and tomorrow, the new crop sold off to a net loss of about 8@10 points under local pressure and continued liquidation.

Shorts seemed willing to take profits around 12.87c for October, however, and prices at midday were 4 or 5 points up from the lowest on the later positions.

Spot quiet; middling uplands, 15.95c; middling gulf, 16.20c. Estimated receipts at the ports today 12,000 bales, against 6355 last week and 2384 last year. For the week 40,000 bales, against 37,541 last week and 18,571 last year.

Cotton futures opened steady: July, 16.01c; August, 15.40c; September, 13.66c; October, 13c; December, 12.79c; January, 12.78c; March, 12.82c; May, 12.85c bid.

Reports that mills were buying the new crop caused some covering during the early afternoon, and the market ruled generally steadier, with prices working up to a net advance of about 4@6 points.

LIVERPOOL, July 20.—Closing—Spot cotton, small business done; prices 9 points lower; American middling fair, 8.47d; good middling, 8.17d; middling, 8.03d; low middling, 7.93d; good ordinary, 7.67d; ordinary, 7.42d. The sales of the day were 3000 bales, of which 1000 were for speculation and export and included 2600 American. No receipts.

Futures opened quiet and steady and closed quiet. HOGS—Arrivals today amounted to 8500 head. Further fluctuations featured trading and even from the first transactions it was evident that additional declines would be an obstacle for salesmen to fight against. Lights, which have been the readiest sellers on account of qualifying for the order demand, began moving at a decline of about a dime compared with the best time yesterday, while up to about noon not enough was doing on medium and heavy offerings on which to base the market. General indications pointed to at least a 10c lower trade all the way through. The top was $9 on light, with the bulk of heavy hogs clearing at from $8.50@8.70.

SHEEP—Another light run resulted in a further advance in lambs, the market going up 15c to 25c. The movement was active. Top lambs brought $7.30, but they were only a small bunch that sold to a butcher. Packers' top was $7.10. Sheep sold strong, with wethers selling up to $4.25. The market is now pretty close to where it was before last week's bad break.

HORSES AND MULES—The horse market was active and strong this morning on all first-class offerings of quality. There were not enough horses offered to hold an auction in the afternoon. Fresh receipts for the day were light, approximating 25 head. The mule trade remains quiet and inactive. Few sales were reported among the dealers or out of first hands throughout the day. Prices remain firm and strong on all the good kinds of miners and good, big, rugged mules.

BULL TRADERS AGAIN CONTROL GRAIN MARKET

Influences controlling the price of wheat today shifted to foreign markets, where sentiment was bullishly affected by continued unfavorable reports from France and Russia.

Revised estimates on the French crop place the damage at 40,000,000 bu. while Russian advices state the yield is turning out smaller than expected and that the recent reported damage by heat is being confirmed.

Domestic conditions remain unchanged. While no precipitation was reported over the spring wheat belt, temperatures were seasonable. Sensational damage reports were still sifting in, however, clear weather in the winter wheat belt also argued well for the harvest and the new crop movement.

Receipts at primary points, and especially in the Northwest, continue heavy, and the indications are for a more liberal run of new wheat in the immediate future.

Traders look for the effect of the increasing movement to be partially offset by the unfavorable foreign situation. But this is unlikely, as the recent sensational advance was the direct result of adverse domestic conditions, and the American markets acted largely independent of outside ones.

Improved Northwest conditions would, therefore, materially be ultimately the controlling factor, and reports indicate that they are improving.

The Liverpool market failed to follow the American decline of Tuesday, and after a fractional setback advanced sharply on light offers and bullish advices from Russia and France. Provincial markets were strong and Danubian offers firmly held. Some later selling followed larger Indian offers and larger cargo arrivals.

Broomhall cabled that the markets of the Old World are apparently in a process of adjustment to meet a lessened wheat harvest, as all offers of new wheat are very scarce and the English provincial markets are strong and higher all around.

Calcutta reported that prices have risen sharply in the past two days and dealers are hoarding stocks.

Liverpool spot wheat closed unchanged to ½d lower, futures ⅝@¾d higher. Paris futures closed ¼c up, Antwerp unchanged, Berlin ½c lower and Budapest ½c lower.

Minneapolis received 98 cars of wheat; last week, 122; last year, 74; two years ago, 201. Duluth received 78 cars, against 44 last week, 14 last year and 46 two years ago. Winnipeg received 112 cars, against 41 last year. Minneapolis stocks decreased 550,000 in five days.

Local receipts of wheat were 74,400 bu, or 57 cars local and 5 through; last year, 150,180 bu, or 5858 sacks, 131 cars local and 6 through.

Kansas City received 276,000 bu of wheat, against 229,000 bu last year; shipped 165,200 bu, against 82,500 bu last year.

Kalb's summary, after a week's trip over the Northwest, says: "The bad crop area of North Dakota is about 15,000 to 16,000 square miles, out of about 64,000 miles of wheat country, or about one-quarter of the total. Estimate that with 2,250,000 acres of the total of 7,231,000 acres seeded (Government official) in North Dakota absolutely lost, there will be an average of eight bushels on the remaining 5,000,000 acres, or, approximately, 40,000,000 bu. South Dakota will also raise 40,000,000 bu and Minnesota 70,000,000 bu, or total of 150,000,000 bu for the three. South Dakota and Minnesota each have some very fine wheat."

The foreign crop summary says:

United Kingdom—Weather past week has been unfavorable; plant wants heat and sunshine.

France—Situation about same as last week, with slight improvement as result of more favorable weather in parts. Outlook on the whole unsatisfactory; recent rains have delayed harvest and damaged wheat already cut.

Germany—Outlook for wheat favorable, but complaints heard regarding other crops.

Hungary—Weather favorable; returns indicate good yield.

Turkey—Advices are satisfactory.

Russia—Crop in Southeast severely damaged as result of drouth and outlook is poor. In Southwest, crop is below average; in central districts damage has been done by rains.

Bulgaria—Reports of damage confirmed as result of rains at harvest. Officials, however, state the yield will be large.

Baltimore wired: "Our sales of flour Tuesday were largest on crop. The South is a liberal buyer."

A Chicago cash house wired: "Cash wheat rather slow. Arrivals taken by elevators, quality fine, but mills not buying. Prices based on futures. At least three leading houses have broken season's record today for country purchases. One feature of country sales was the quantity sold by Indiana. This was much more than Illinois and for prompt loading."

Corn was strong and higher. Cables were ¾d up on a good foreign demand. Cash houses were good buyers and speculative offers were light. The country was a light seller over night.

Cash wheat 2c lower and dull. Cash corn steady and ½c higher; demand good. Cash oats 1c higher on white grades. Receipts light; mixed also higher.

Export clearances of wheat and flour were 43,000 bu, of corn 5000 bu, of oats none.

Oats were firm in sympathy with other grains. Cash houses were good sellers in Chicago and the Southwest. Crop returns are excellent.

Local receipts of corn were 46,800 bu, or 30 cars local and 9 through; last year, 30,000 bu, or 156 sacks, 23 cars local and 4 through.

Local receipts of oats were 17,000 bu, or 6 cars local and 4 through; last year, 27,200 bu, or 15 cars local and 2 through.

WANTS GIRLS TO TAKE PLEDGE

Anti-Cigarette Advocate Sends Literature to Colleges.

NEW YORK, July 20.—Mrs. Lucy Page Gaston, founder of the Anti-Cigarette League of Chicago, who is in New York completing her plans for the incorporation of the Anti-Cigarette League of America, announced that she has abundant evidence that the habit of smoking cigarettes is widespread among women in this city.

To prevent growth of the habit among women, the league is sending literature to pupils in girls' colleges and finishing schools, with a view to obtaining pledges from the students to refrain from smoking in any form.

INSURGENTS ARE DISHEARTENED BY HADLEY'S ACTION

Mayor's Adherents Had Hoped He Would Be Supported in Fight on Kiel.

HOGAN ENTERS RACE

Chairman's Son-in-Law to Retaliate for Being Ousted From Ward Club.

Mayor Kreismann was in a decidedly unhappy frame of mind Wednesday upon his return from Jefferson City where he was in conference with Gov. Hadley relative to the political situation in St. Louis. The Mayor's mood indicated to his insurgent supporters that his interview with Gov. Hadley had been unsatisfactory.

President Reynolds of the Police Board met Mayor Kreismann at the city hall and had a long conference with him. Reynolds also did not appear in very good mood.

It was reported from Jefferson City that Gov. Hadley had told Mayor Kreismann emphatically that he did not wish Jeptha D. Howe, who is backing Mayor Kreismann in his fight on the Republican organization, to be placed in party control again.

"I went to Jefferson City to inform Gov. Hadley of the exact political situation in St. Louis," said Mayor Kreismann to a Post-Dispatch reporter.

Withholds the Details.

"He and I are responsible to the party for the conduct of our offices. When I left him he fully understood the situation in St. Louis. I am not going into details as to the matters discussed with the Governor.

"Are you going to act on the Governor's suggestion that you get together with Chairman Kiel and Otto Stifel for the good of the party organization in St. Louis?" Mayor Kreismann was asked.

"If I can do anything, it will be done, you can take it from me," he replied.

The Mayor's office was filled with job-seekers Wednesday morning. About thirty were standing in line waiting for an interview with Job-Dispenser Burkham all morning and at noon the line was increasing in length.

Howe is backing the Mayor's fight against the Republican City Committee. Mayor Kreismann and President Reber of the Board of Public Improvements went to Jefferson City Tuesday to talk with the Governor over political conditions in St. Louis. Mayor Kreismann left Jefferson City on an early morning train and at noon had not returned to his office.

Gov. Hadley is said to be in thorough sympathy with Chairman Kiel of the Republican City Committee and his adviser, Otto Stifel. For that reason he discouraged, it is said, the Howe-Kreismann fight that is being made on the organization's plans.

The regulars are inclined to smile at Mayor Kreismann's declaration that he will not consult the city committee in making appointments.

"The only appointments the Mayor has to give out now are to street and sewer laborers, and not many of them," said Peter Anderson, Inspector of Weights and Measures, and a member of the City Committee. "His threat to take appointments from the committee's hands will not amount to anything. It only goes to show how narrow the Mayor is in this fight."

The Twentieth Ward Republican League Club, controlled by Committeeman Nat Goldstein, who is a candidate for Clerk of the Court of Criminal Correction, ousted Granville Hogan, son-in-law of Chairman Kiel, as a member of the club Tuesday night.

To Run Against Goldstein.

As the result of Goldstein's action, Hogan announced himself a candidate for city committeeman against Goldstein Wednesday.

At a meeting of the Precinct Committee of the Twenty-first Ward Tuesday night Herman Bader was unanimously indorsed for Republican City Committeeman. Bader is an anti-Howe-Kreismann committeeman and has been loyal to Chairman Kiel of the Republican City Committee.

John C. Robertson, candidate for Justice of the Peace against George W. Riechmann, was also unanimously indorsed. Reichmann is an insurgent committeeman and is running for re-election, both as committeeman and Justice of the Peace.

ROGER N. BALDWIN TO BECOME SECRETARY OF CIVIC LEAGUE

Probation Officer Succeeds Mayo Fesler, Who Goes to Cleveland.

Roger N. Baldwin, who as chief probation officer has been "big brother" to hundreds of St. Louis boys and girls, will succeed Mayo Fesler as secretary and manager of the Civic League, at a salary said to be $3500 a year. Fesler resigned recently to accept the secretaryship of the Cleveland Municipal Association.

Baldwin, a Harvard graduate, who has lived in St. Louis four years, formerly was an instructor in sociology in Washington University. He also was director of Self-Culture Hall. He became probation officer in 1907, and when the new juvenile court law went into effect last year, he withdrew from his other work to devote his full time to the city.

Holiness Camp Meeting Friday.

The second annual camp meeting of the St. Louis City and County Holiness Association, auxiliary to the national association, will begin Friday evening and continue until July 31. The camp will be located in Maplewood, on the corner of Manchester avenue and Big Bend road. The Rev. I. G. Martin of Los Angeles, Cal.; the Rev. C. E. Cornell of Chicago, Ill.; the Rev. Howard Eckel of Louisville, Ky., and Evangelist Beatrice C. Beezley of Chicago, Ill., are the special evangelists.

Gen. W. H. Lessig Dies.

DENVER, Colo., July 20.—Gen. William H. Lessig, a friend of Gen. Grant and Territorial Surveyor-General of Colorado in the 60's, died last night at the Soldiers' Home at Montevista, Colo. It is said Lillian Bell's novel, "The Interference of Patricia," was based on facts connected with Gen. Lessig's life.

Happy, Happy, Use TIZ

A Marvel For Sore Feet. Acts Right Off.

Sore Feet! Never After Using TIZ.

TIZ is not a powder. Powders and other foot remedies clog up the pores. TIZ draws out all poisonous exudations which bring on soreness of the feet, and is the only remedy that does. TIZ cleans out every pore and glorifies the feet—your feet.

You'll never limp again or draw up your face in pain, and you'll forget about your corns, bunions and callouses. You'll feel like a new person.

TIZ is for sale at all druggists at 25 cents per box, or it will be sent you direct if you wish from Walter Luther Dodge & Co., Chicago, Ill. Recommended and sold by Raboteau and Wolff-Wilson drug stores and Johnson Bros. Drug Co., 801 Franklin av.
